REED'S BAKING POWDER.

FOR EASILY making Bread, Biscuit, Fried, Griddle and Johnny cakes, &c., &c., Infinitely better, sweeter, whiter, lighter, healthier, and much quicker than can be made by Durkee's or any other Baking Powder.

A large number of housekeepers in Milwaukee and elsewhere, who have tried this preparation, pronounce it superior to any ever before used.

Used according to the directions, and the Bread or Biscuit must rise, even with poor flour.

Those desiring further information in regard to the merits of the article, by calling upon the manufacturer will be shown certificates from many of the most respectable residents of Milwaukee.

Prepared only by Herbert Reed, Family Grocer,
No. 225 East Water St., Milwaukee.

CAUTION.—The written signature of HERBERT REED, must always be found upon a red stamp on the back of every package of the genuine article. Every paper bearing such stamp is warranted better, purer and cheaper than any other similar preparation, and fully equal to the recommendations. mar1tf

1853. WINTER TRADE. 1853.

JOHN D. GARDINER,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS!
No. 135 East Water Street, Milwaukee.

Sound the loud timbrel o'er Prairie and River!
Proclaim the glad tidings—Goods cheaper than ever!

IN VIEW of the luxuriant crops in all the great staples of our young and glorious State, and the good prices they at present command, and the consequent increased ability of our farmers to buy, as well as the increased activity of business generally, among all classes, the subscriber has been induced to make extra preparations for a large and extensive trade. In anticipation of this increased demand for Dry Goods, he has spent a portion of the past summer and fall east, where he has been engaged in buying one of the largest and most varied stocks of Dry Goods that he has ever yet brought into Wisconsin. In buying these Goods, he has taken the utmost pains in selecting the best and most fashionable styles and qualities.

His purchases have been made by the Bale, Case and Package direct of the Manufacturers or their Agents, the Importers and at Auction. His facilities for buying, fully warrant him in saying that they are equalled but by few, and excelled by no firm in the trade. The old maxim, that "Goods well bought are half sold," has governed him in his purchases. And knowing that he buys as low, he is determined not to be undersold in a fair and legitimate way. Come then, "all you who are weary and heavy laden" with the yellow coin, or overburthened with good promises to pay, and we will give you rest, and impart comfort to those who are hungry and naked, by selling good cheaper than ever.

This fact we desire to keep prominently and permanently before the People—THAT WE DO NOT PERMIT OURSELVES UNDER ANY REASONABLE CIRCUMSTANCES TO BE UNDERSOLD. Remember it.

Our Stock consists in part of the following articles:

100 bales Sheeting,	10 cases Bleached Shirting,
50 do Batts,	10 do Cotton Flannels,

Tea, Coffee and Sugar.
We shall continue to sell at WHOLESALE and RETAIL for a limited time only, TEA, COFFEE and SUGAR.
It is perhaps unnecessary to say here that these goods have advanced, but we are selling what we have on hand to our customers at the old prices. As they were bought before the advance, and as we intend to discontinue this branch of our business for a time at least, after selling what we have on hand.

Whale Oil and Tanner's Oil,
We have consigned to us for sale on commission.

The Warrior's Prayer.

Beneath the silvery moon
An army's tents were spread,
And softly on the slumbering earth
The dews of Heaven were shed;
No sound of battle then
Was heard amid the dell—
Naught but the dull and heavy tread
Of the sleepless sentinel.

The weary soldiers slept,
And sweet was their repose—
Yet must they wake to mortal strife
When the morning herald crows;
For distant but a league,
The foe's white tents are seen,
And only till the coming dawn
Is it neutral ground between

Life in the hostile camp!
They may not, dare not rest;
This a troublous thought that dwells
In every foeman's breast.
On the morrow must they meet
A bold, determined band,
Whose watch-word carries might—
"God and their suffering land!"

The leader of the foe
On a thorny pillow lies,
And gloomy phantoms hover round
To vex his sleepless eyes;
For he knows that with the dawn
He must lead his army on
To a most inglorious strife,
Till the field is lost or won.

Not in unquiet rest
Was the leader of the free
Where the forest spread its shade
The warrior bent his knee;
He bared his noble brow
By the sparkling streamlet's shore,
And his solemn prayer to Heaven
The whispering zephyr bore.

Oh! who shall know the might
Of the words he uttered there?
The fate of nations then was turned
By the fervor of his prayer.
But would ye know his name;
Who wandered there alone?
Go, read, enrolled in Heaven's archives,
The prayer of WASHINGTON!

JULIAN CRAMER

The Voice of the Slop Shirt.

It was a little bundle, neatly packed and lying on the counter. The shop was old and weather stained, but the man that kept it, he was old and sin stained. The hollow in his face looked out as if mercy had there laid her length and died; and if there ever was kindness in his eye, it was before he let his soul on a lease to avarice. We said there was a little bundle neatly packed, lying there, but there was something else—a bony, bluish, knotty veined, famished looking hand—a woman's hand. It seemed as if the blood had never a generous tending to these poor veins; or if it had, hunger kept it back.

Under a ragged green veil, a face peered out that was pinched and homely; none of your beauty in distress was here; the bitterness at her heart had wrenched all comeliness away, and she stood there a suffering miserable, slop-shop slave.

Before the woman had spoken, a stranger entered. At the sound of her voice he stayed his steps, for the concentration of years of agony, meted out hour by hour, moment by moment, tick by tick of the clock, seemed infused in that hollow, sepulchral voice.

'And you won't pay me?'

'Not a cent,' rung out sharply, like the twang of a rusty wire; 't'other shirt was spoiled for custom, you oughter make half a dozen more for nothin.'

'But my baby was dying while I was finishing that, and the tears blinded me till I cut the button holes too big. I buried my poor baby—thank God for taking it from misery—and that's what I want the money for.'

'Can't help it—don't whine at me; think I can bury all the poor babies in creation?'

The woman threw down her veil and turned to go—and as she reached the door, she exclaimed in a shrill tone, 'You are warm here, and your children are warm at home; my children are starving and freezing, and dying;' and with an unearthly shriek, she burst from the shop, and plunged to battle with the fierce wind.

The stranger who had witnessed all this, bought the shirt—but with it he bought also the memory of that wretched scene. Day and night it had a voice for his ear, and a vision for his eye.

He saw ghastly and sinful creatures moving about the pavement, but he dared not judge them with man's judgment, for he thought of that hollow voice, 'My baby was dying, and the tears blinded me!' How knew he but cruel want had driven them to crime?

The slop shirt! Little do we heed its voice. It comes to us shining and snowy. No record it bears of the tears that stained its whiteness, they are all washed away. It reminds us not that the heart-broken sighs of the needy have been dropped thickly amid its folds. Crowding about it, we see no wan faces of famishing children. Close—close has it laid with the shroud over the mother's faded hopes. It has seen the last coal die out in the night gloom. About frozen fingers has it been wrapped, in laps of luxury once nestled, has it laid. It has felt the touch of hands once soft and white and covered with jewels; it has crowed back the tears in eyes once blue, bright and beautiful, now how cold and dim!

Ah! listen well to the voice of the slop shirt. Say a word at all times, and every where for the poor sisterhood who live by stitching. No matter whether they were bred in a palace, or never saw better than the walls of the hovel, they are God's children, held under the lash of man's hard bondage. Be pitiful, then, whenever you hear the voice of the slop shirt.—Boston Olive Branch.

HALLAM THE HISTORIAN.—In his voyage up the Rhine, Campbell met on the steamboat the historian of the middle ages. "Hallam is a most excellent man," said the poet in one of his letters, "of great acuteness, and of immense research in reading. I believe him to have neither gall nor bitterness; and yet he is a perfect boa-constrictor! * * His powers of study are like those of the scholars of the Alexandrian Academy, whose viscera were alleged to be made of brass. He beats Sydney Smith himself, with his provoking accuracy as to matters of fact. Smith once said to me, 'If Hallam were in the midst of a full assembly of scientific men, and if Euclid were to enter the room, with his Elements under his arm, and were to say, 'Gentlemen, I suppose no one present doubts the truth of the Forty-fifth Proposition of my First Book of Elements,' Mr. Hallam would say, 'Yes, I have my doubts.'"

MILWAUKEE:

THURSDAY.....................MARCH 16.

For President in 1856,
JOHN P. HALE, of New York.
FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
GEORGE W. JULIAN, of Indiana.

Who is Responsible?

The oppressions and tyrannies of Charles the First, brought his head to the block, and, in the verdict of mankind, he was the author of his own doom.

Great Britain, after a long series of injuries, changed the hearts of the people of her colonies, and accomplished a final separation from the mother country.

Jeffreys, after the most infamous judicial career, during which the lives and liberties of many were sacrificed, was torn in pieces by the people, having plucked down destruction on his own head, and perished miserably, accursed of God and man.

In all these cases, and in a hundred more which we might instance, the guilty, responsible authors of popular outbreaks, were the unjust, oppressive and tyrannical Governments, and the arbitrary and illegal decisions of corrupt Judges who enforced their decrees. The people are long suffering and patient. It is only when their rights are infringed, and their personal liberty is at stake, and when submission to Governmental and judicial usurpations would peril their rights and liberties, that they rise up in their majesty, and vindicate them by force.

It was the glaring usurpation, on the part of Judge Miller, which led to the final proceedings on Saturday last. He had nullified the U. S. Constitution and the Constitution and Laws of this State, and trampled on our State Sovereignty and on the liberties of the People, by refusing the writ of habeas corpus, and declaring that no earthly power should take Glover out of his hands. Wrapping around him the folds of his office, he set at defiance Constitution and laws, Rights and Liberties, the State and the People of Wisconsin. He made the issue boldly—Judge Miller vs the People and Liberty—and the People met the issue like men who scorned to be slaves. There was no previous concert of action, and no design of a forcible rescue, but all were looking for the issue of a trial before Judge Jenkins, on the writ of habeas corpus. But when Mr Watkins announced, on behalf of the Committee, that Judge Miller had refused to permit the writ of habeas corpus to be obeyed, and the People saw that if they submitted to this, that the State sovereignty, the writ of habeas corpus, and their own rights were trampled under foot, without premeditation or plan, they walked straight to the jail, opened the prison doors, and set Glover free. The exciting cause to this act was Judge Miller, and whatever violence was committed was the legitimate result of his decision. And if the U. S. District Court perseveres in this course, and continues his high-handed usurpations, he will not only render his name infamous throughout the world, but will make the Federal Court a stench in the nostrils of the People of Wisconsin.

This prosecution against us is not a personal matter. We have been selected as the first victim, because it was thought more prejudice could be brought to bear against us than against others, and that it would have a tendency to humble the tone of our press. Of their success our columns will bear witness from day to day. The object of this prosecution is to establish the law of Slavery and kidnapping on the free soil of Wisconsin, and to make this a Slave State. It is to send out human bloodhounds armed with the authority of law, to scour the prairies and plains of Wisconsin, on the scent for human game. And if this prosecution succeeds, we are not to be the only victim. Arrests and prosecutions in abundance are to follow. The people of this State are to be taught that they are the slaves of the Slave Power.—It is a hard lesson, and before it is learned, we believe, the Slave Power will be overthrown. The U. S. Government has appropriated $100,000 to prosecute the Fugitive cases, and as they put this into the pockets of the U. S. officers, the more prosecutions the better. It is an array of Power and Money against the People and Liberty.

Uncle Tom vs. Judge Miller.

The Marsh Troupe are here playing Uncle Tom every evening in Young's Hall, and preaching up the old Patrick Henry doctrine of Liberty or Death—the very doctrine carried out by the people at the Court-House, in rescuing Glover. They go so far as to justify the Fugitive in shooting down the Slave-Catchers, rather than surrender, and be carried back into Slavery. And what is still worse, the people flock in crowds to hear these performances, and cheer them to the very echo. This is an awful state of things! and we submit whether Judge Miller should not arrest the troupe at once, and have them tried for riot, and for aiding Glover to escape. They are in the same category with us. And when the Judge has disposed of them, he should get up an indictment against Human Nature, which is a Great Incendiary—always taking the part of the oppressed.

The Erie difficulty has been settled and a bill has been prepared in committee of the Pennsylvania Legislature said to give satisfaction to all parties, by which the Cleveland, Painesville, and Ashtabula roads agree to construct a road from some point west of Erie—this to connect with the Sunbury road at Meadville. There is little doubt but it will pass the Legislature.

MR. WHEEDON's speech we will try to make room for to-morrow, as it is but fair that so manly an opponent of the Prohibitory Law should be heard.

THE Madison Argus has never about the Slave case heard any of our citizens, at least, for the thing ... never happened.

The Wisconsin Land Grant.

There is a bill now before the House of Representatives proposing to make an extensive grant of the public lands to the State of Wisconsin, to aid in the construction of a certain railroad. Now, we hold the principle of these grants to be exceedingly doubtful in any case. Let the homestead bill be passed and actual settlers take possession of the lands, and the need of such aid will exist no longer, because the people of the State will be able to build their own roads. But this bill is liable to other objections of a still more immediate and conclusive nature. It does not merely give the land to the State to help such railroad enterprises as the people may judge most worthy of assistance, but it prescribes the points where the road shall run, locates it and in fact puts the whole into the hands of a company of speculators of very doubtful antecedents, and thus enables them to break down railroads already set on foot and in a great measure completed by the people themselves.

In laying down the place through which the road must run, the bill entirely excludes the Lake shore and towns from the benefit of the grants. This alone is something which can hardly be justified on the part of Congress. The Lake shore towns of Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, and Manitowoc, are all engaged to a greater or less extent in the construction of railroads. From Milwaukee, several roads, have made considerable advances into the country, particularly the Milwaukee and Mississippi road, which was the pioneer road of the State, and is now running to within a few miles of Madison, the Capital, a distance of one hundred miles. This road has been built entirely by private enterprise, and is owned and controlled by the people of the State. So deep has been the interest of the inhabitants along its route, and so much confidence has been reposed in the soundness of its management, that a large number of the farmers have mortgaged their farms to raise the money to carry it forward. The contemplated grant, on the part of Government, provides for the building of a road side by side, with this one for a considerable distance. Can this be right? Shall Congress step in with its strong arm to cripple and break down private enterprise? The same is true of the Milwaukee and La Crosse road, another undertaking to advance which, the citizens have subscribed and paid a large sum. But why keep away from the Lake ports in continuing the great southern rout from Chicago to Lake Superior? Certainly that route is far more direct along the shore of Lake Michigan from Chicago, at any rate as far north as Milwaukee, and perhaps to Sheboygan, before it bears westward toward Lake Superior. In a governmental point of view this route would be far better, since beside its greater directness, it would permit the road to be reached by shipping at half a dozen or more ports instead of a single one. But aside from this consideration, we have a strong sympathy for the Lake shore towns of Wisconsin. They have been the great gateway through which the five hundred thousand inhabitants of the State have passed. They were the first to build common highways, then plank roads, and lastly with a noble enterprise, to take in hand the more formidable work of building railroads. It is to these efforts on the part of the Lake Cities, that much of the importance and power of the State is to be attributed, and we confess that we should be very sorry to see such a disposition of these lands as would be calculated to break down their hard-earned prosperity. If land must be given let it be directly to the State, and let the distribution be made by the Legislature which certainly should be the best judge, both as to where and how such aid ought to be applied.—N. Y. Tribune.

Judge Miller's Decision Examined.

The Sentinel has an able communication, on Judge Millers decision, condemning it in pointed terms.

After insisting on the right and duty of the State Courts to protect its citizens against the usurpation of the Federal Courts, the writer says:

"It is a well known rule of law, that when an officer executes his writ oppressively, or in making an arrest uses more force than is necessary, he becomes a trespasser from the beginning, and his writ is no justification. Garland and his compeers had knocked down Glover, and cut his head open, and the assault and battery consisted in doing these acts unnecessarily.

"If these acts were unnecessary, they were not acts done 'in pursuance of a law of the United States, or any order, process or decree of any judge or court of the United States.' The warrant of Judge Miller did not command the Marshal to break the head of Glover. That act was not in pursuance of any U. S. authority! How, then, does the Judge get jurisdiction to try this fact? A Marshal cannot beat, wound and maim, in the execution of a process of the U. S. on State soil, and escape responsibility to State laws. How, then, did the Judge try this fact, whether the beating and knocking down, and cutting of scalps was necessary or not? If not necessary it was crime against the State.—And Judge Miller tries this crime by the return of the Marshal! for he says that 'Cotton's return states that no more force was used than was necessary to execute the warrant.' This is strange doctrine in lawyers' ears. The return of an officer is evidence for certain purposes. But no return, or part of return, is evidence unless it is required by law to be made. Who, before this, ever heard of an officer making return that he had used no more force than was necessary? And who before ever heard of judicial notice being taken of such a return? I say nothing here of the palpable fact, and the palpable trickery and dishonesty of the fact, that this portion of the return was made for the occasion of Garland's benefit. But I cannot avoid confessing my shame that it should have been judicially noticed. The fact is, it was not the least of kin to evidence. But according to this, if a marshal commit robbery, arson, or murder, while executing U. S. process, and if arrested, he is only to return upon his writ that he had used no more force than was necessary, and the federal judge nullifies the power and laws of the State and sets him scot free."

Judicial Economy.

ED. FREE DEMOCRAT:

Your reference to a certain "tin-cup" Judge, in the early history of our Territory, calls to mind another incident of self-denying "judicial economy," said to have been practised by this same public functionary, in years agone.

The Judge was taken violently sick, and sent for his physician, Dr. B*, who at once prescribed an emetic. The Judge, however, recovered without taking the nauseous dose, and with that keen foresight which always prompted him to make the most capital from the smallest investment, he proposed to his "better half" that she should take the emetic, that there might be nothing lost! The good woman did so, and made herself sick. Of course, when Dr. B. presented his bill, the item for the emetic was protested, as he didn't take it—and whether an action for damages was entered in the "tin-cup court," on behalf of injuries to his wife, has not yet transpired, as no "reporters" are known in his court. X.

LARGEST GROWTH YET.—We have now, in our office a plum graft, of one year's growth, 7 feet 7½ inches long, raised by M. Newberry, of this city. Another branch measured 7 feet 6 inches. Who can produce its equal?

THE [illegible] of Chicago determine by ballot, at their April election, whether the Illinois river shall be tunneled or not.

SENTIMENT OF THE PRESS.

The Kidnapping Case.

THE FUGITIVE CASE—S. M. Booth.—There is some salt in Sodom. Milwaukee has behaved nobly in this matter.

To the whole city of Milwaukee, and to its foreign population particularly—and the Germans especially—must the meed of praise be extended, for the good deed done.

And the same and even more may be said of Racine and its people.

And to none is due a greater share of commendation, for prompt, efficient, and well-timed action, than to S. M. BOOTH.

Finding that printing hand-bills would consume time, he mounted a horse, and rode through the streets calling the people together. Hardly twenty minutes were consumed by him in traversing the city, and when he got to the place of meeting, the people were there.

He violated no law and counselled no violation; but acted like a Man in an emergency which demanded Men, and deserves the thanks of all.—Acnossa Tel.

Such has been the termination of the first attempt in Wisconsin, to enforce the odious Fugitive slave law. While every thinking man must dislike to see the laws of the land trampled upon, and the mob triumphant, he will feel a stronger emotion for which dislike is altogether too tame a word, that our law givers have passed enactments so inherently unjust that no good man can or will obey them. At this time, particularly, the public mind is peculiarly inflammable. The Senate of the United States, which should be the most dignified, the most noble, the most honorable body upon earth, have just violated public faith, trampled upon solemn covenants, disregarded the voice of justice, humanity and civilization; and when such a body is guilty of such acts, can it be expected that an excited populace will be over-nice, in disregarding their own feeling for the sake of upholding an opprobrious and cruel law?

All over this broad State, into every peaceful village, and quiet homestead, the press will carry the intelligence of this outrage upon humanity, of this barbaric assault upon a man guilty of no offence, except, in the language of an ancient hero, which has often been admired, that of "deeming himself worthy of liberty."—And wherever this intelligence goes, the popular heart will beat high with indignation against the men who have legalized this great wrong, and make kidnapping a legitimate business.—The popular heart, too, though the act may have been lawless, will approve and exult over the discomfiture of the man-hunter. Let them remember that this is but a far-off ramification of that system of gigantic wrongs against which their representatives in our State Senate refuse to lend the influence of their votes in excluding from territory now free.—Madison Journal.

We are not among those who countenance riot or uphold disobedience to the laws. No one can deprecate more than we do every manifestation of mob-rule and violence, and we are happy in being able to say that neither has prevailed in the conduct of this matter. No violence of any kind has been done, but the people have calmly and resolutely shown that that damning act of human perfidy and wickedness, the fugitive slave law, is not the law of Wisconsin—that a higher and better rule of conduct governs us here than the best that ever swayed the hearts or heads of the authors of that iniquity. The fugitive slave law can not be enforced in Wisconsin. This the minions of the slave power may as well learn sooner or later. The people will not suffer it; they understand too well that great charter of rights which is the birthright of every man, whatever be the color of his skin—rights which no human legislation can abrogate or annul, and which will remain while justice and mercy are not erased from the statutes of God. The greatest credit, if any distinction can be made, is due to the German citizens of Milwaukee and other places for the glorious part they took in this affair. Names of some of the citizens of this city and Waukesha might be mentioned with honor, but we have no wish to make individuous distinctions when all acted so noble a part.—Racine Advocate.

MORE OF THE SLAVE CASE—Arrest of Mr. Booth.—Mr. Booth, of the Free Dem., was arrested yesterday, on a warrant from the U. S. Commissioner Winfield Smith, on the charge of "aiding and abetting" in the escape of Joshua Glover, the fugitive slave, on Saturday. On the motion of his counsel, the hearing was postponed till Tuesday of next week. Mr. Booth being allowed to go at large on parole.

If the federal authorities about here are anxious to keep up the excitement in relation to this subject, they have hit upon the way to do it. If they are determined to keep our city in a ferment for months, as Boston and Syracuse have been excited, and with the result, to wit, bad feeling among the citizens, and large expense to somebody, with no good to arise from it all, they are in a fair way to accomplish this end. Whether it is worth while for them to go through so much to accomplish so little, is for them to say.—Sentinel.

Congressional.

In the House, on Tuesday last, the petitions of the New England Clergy, signed by 3,050 names, against the Nebraska Bill, was presented. The same petition was also presented in the Senate, where, at the request of Mr. Douglas, it was read. After the reading of the petition, Mr. Douglas denounced its statements as atrocious slanders. Which is to be believed, the assertion of the traitor, Stephen Arnold Douglas, or that of 3,050 clergymen?

In the House the Wisconsin Railroad Bill was tabled by a majority of 3. The excitement was intense when the result was announced. A motion was made to re-consider, during which the House adjourned.

This, we hope, is a test vote on this question, and we are inclined to believe it is; and if so, Wisconsin has great cause to rejoice, that a magnificent swindle upon the rights of her citizens has been crushed at its inception.

Now let the Senate pass the Homestead bill, adopted by the House, and land monopoly, if it does not receive its death blow, will receive a check, from which it will never recover.

On Monday a resolution passed the House to remedy the confusion at present existing in the appointment of Cadets, caused by the new Congressional Districts of the several States.

The amount of Treasury drafts issued during the week was $740,000.

It was believed that the President would settle the difficulties growing out of the seizure of the Black Warrior at Havana—the authorities of that city being willing to give ample compensation.

AGITATED.—On Friday last, the Southern Honorables, in the House of Representatives, were thrown into violent convulsions, by a remark from Mr. Lane, of Indiana, in reply to an attack of Mr. Sollers, of Maryland, that he did not represent a State where five slaves were considered equivalent to three white men. For a few moments all was commotion, but the storm was finally quelled by a motion to postpone the subject.

MAINE LAW IN MASS.—The more popular branch of the Massachusetts Legislature on Thursday refused to take any step toward repealing or essentially modifying the Prohibitory Liquor Law of that State by a vote of more than two to one—by far the largest majority ever given in that House, or by the State in any way, on the side of Prohibition.

SPRING.

"Solvitur acris hiems grata vice Veris et Favoni, Trahuntque siccas machinæ carinas."—Horace.

A song for the Spring time,
From valley and hill,
And welcome the sunshine
To ripple and rill.
Their ice-bonds all broken,
Unfettered and free,
They rush with commotion
On, on to the sea.
From uplands and mountains,
Exultingly sing
Glad rivers and fountains—
They welcome the Spring.
With apples and peaches,
With corn, milk and wine,
And hot whiskey-punches,
And fruit of the vine,
Fat, jolly October—
The crafty old Monk—
Tho' he went to bed sober,
Got mother Earth drunk.
But she, now rejoicing,
Since Jack Frost has fled,
Throws off her snow cover,
And rises from bed;
But her face is all covered
With bruises and scars,
For Winter is breaking,
Like family jars.
Now soft vernal breezes
Breathe gladness and joy,
And the young maiden sneezes,
And so does the boy.
His arm draws her nearer,
In gentle embrace,
And kisses fall, tender
As flowers on her face.
He reveals in low whisper
Words he scarce dare unfold,
And he sighs, as he asks her—
"What's good for a cold?"
Forth from her he rushes,
His thumb to his nose—
Like the tempest on ocean
Resounding, he blows.
Bright Summer has started,
I see her approach;
With mud all bespattered
Are horses and coach;
She drives through the puddles—
A plunge and a dash—
And away go the horses
And wagon—to smash!
The Hours are in waiting,
And long have they stood
Expectant—she comes not—
She's stuck in the mud!

Milwaukee, March 14, 1854. ENALLAN.

GERMANS MOVING.—The Germans of Chicago hold a meeting, this evening, to protest against the Nebraska outrage. Similar demonstrations, by the Germans, have been made in several of the larger cities of the Union.—We hope the Germans of this city will hold a meeting to protest against this bill. They are opposed to it almost to a man, and out of ten German papers, published in this State, we know but one—the Sheboygan Republicaner—that favors the passage of the Nebraska Bill.

FLOOD.—A terrible flood occurred at Albany, N. Y. on Saturday last. The Hudson river rose quickly to high water mark.

Several brick buildings were stove in, and the lower part of the city was overflowed.

FIRE AT PORT HURON.—On Thursday last, a fire occurred at Port Huron, Mich., which destroyed one of the finest block of stores in the place, and a large amount of merchandize. The fire was designedly set.

MEXICO.—Late accounts from Acapulco are to the effect that the revolution at that place is progressing. That port had been closed. It was reported that Santa Anna had accepted the amendments to the Gadsden treaty.

THE News makes an onslaught upon Mayor KILBOURN, because he did not denounce us an incendiary, in his Inaugural. The editor of the News can't see anything, at present, except niggers and slave-catchers.

SUBSIDING THE PRESS.—Twenty-five Democratic Editors in Pennsylvania, hold offices of trust and profit under the Federal Government. No wonder they are in favor of the Nebraska outrage!

THE President has authorized his Cabinet organ to announce that the Nebraska Bill is not an Administration measure—gammon. It was put through the Senate under the whip of the Government.

NAVIGATION.—The Steamer Cleveland ran from Detroit to Cleveland yesterday, and found little or no ice to obstruct her passage. Boats also arrived at Detroit from Sandusky, yesterday.

ANTI-NEBRASKA MEETING.—On Monday evening last, the citizens of Port Washington held a meeting, to protest against the Nebraska Swindle.

A report has been circulated at Washington, that Col. Forney, present Clerk of the House of Representatives, has become an assistant proprietor of the Union.

AN effigy of Senator Douglas was found hanging on a tree in Arlington street, Providence, R. I., on Tuesday morning last.

THE Circuit Court for Sheboygan County, is in session at Sheboygan—Judge Howe Presiding.

THE Illinois Canal was to be opened for navigation yesterday.

The Assembly have changed their rules so as to meet at 9 o'clock A. M. of each day.

IT is intimated that Minister Soule is anxious to return to the United States.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Jas. Pollock is the whig candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

THE Oshkosh Courier says, the ice is fast disappearing from Lake Winnebago.

The Milwaukee News intimates that those engaged in the late Joshua rescue will be prosecuted forthwith, and mulcted in heavy damages. Perhaps they will—we shall see in good time.—Kenosha Tel.

Vote of Thanks.—A vote of thanks was tendered by the delegation of Racine, (who went up to Milwaukee on Saturday,) to Capt. Butlin, of the Pacific, for his kindness and generosity.—Racine Adv.

THE London Missionary Society has already received nearly £3,500 of the sum required to send ten additional missionaries to China, in connection with the present opening for that country.

A great Anti-Nebraska meeting at the Tabernacle was presided over by ABRAHAM VAN NESS, with one hundred Vice Presidents.—Speeches were made by KING, BLUNT, CURTIS, MORRIS and others. Judge BRONSON denies that he endorses the Nebraska measure.

HENRY CARDIN has recovered of the Hudson River Railroad Company $5,750, for injuries.

U. S. Sloop-of-War Falmouth ordered to sea forthwith, and the Decatur soon.

The President's Message to Congress, agreed on in Cabinet, recommends the repeal of the neutrality laws with Spain, on account of the Black Warrior case.

New Hampshire Election.

CONCORD, N. H., March 15.—So far as heard from 101 Democrats and 103 Coalitionists have been elected. The same towns last year elected 177 Democrats and 67 opposition. If the Democracy come in as last year, they will have 45 majority. BAKER, Dem., for Governor, will have about 3000 maj. over all others. A maj. of Democrats are elected to the Council.

Whig State Convention.

HARRISBURGH, Pa., March 15.—The Whig State Convention met this morning. Governor JOHNSON presided. He is strongly talked of for Governor.

Sailing of the Andes.

BOSTON, March 15.—The Steamer Andes sailed at noon, with 144 passengers and $21,000 in specie.

New York Markets.

NEW YORK, March 15—6 P. M.—Demand for Western and State Flour more animated for the east and home trade. Prices of low grades better. Better grades unchanged with fair arrivals by Railroad. Canadian quiet at $7,75@7,87. Sales Western Canal, 4500 bbls., at $7,87@7,91 for common to strait State; $7,87@8,00 for common to good Ohio, and mixed to fancy Michigan and Indiana.

Grain holders firm. Prime wheat firm in absence of late advices from Europe. Little has been done; sales 10,000 bush. common to good Jersey at $1,80.

Rye lower, unsettled and nominal at $1,05@1,06. Oats lower and very plenty at 49@53.

Corn more plenty and not quite so firm.—Demand not active; sales 2,200 bush. at 82@83 for mixed Southern and Western; 83@84 for round yellow; 84@85 for Southern yellow; 84@86 for Southern white.

Provisions in fair demand. Pork $15,44@15,50 for mess—$13,12@13,25 for prime.—Beef firm and in good demand—$14,00 for repacked Chicago; $9,00@11,50 for country mess—$6,00@8,00 for country and city prime.

Lard, Butter and Cheese unchanged.

GREAT NORTHERN CONVENTION.—It is proposed to hold a great Northern Convention at Albany, of all who are opposed to the Nebraska bill. Why not hold it at Buffalo?—Would not that point best accommodate the Free States?

Holloway's Ointment and Pills, a Certain Specific and Cure for Scorbutic Eruptions.—Extract of a letter from Mr. Abbitt, Chemist, Leamington, dated Nov. 25, 1852. To Professor Holloway: Sir, a person named John Margoshis, of 19 Regent street, Leamington, was afflicted for eight years with scorbutic eruptions on the lips, and at length the whole surface of the mouth and lower part of the face were covered with sores. He tried all kinds of remedies without deriving any benefit whatever. At length he was recommended to use your Pills, which in three days produced a great change for the better, and in a short time effected a perfect cure. m15d1w

Bayard Taylor's

First lecture is given this evening, at Young's Hall. The desire to hear him is so strong and universal, that the simple announcement of his lecture will be sufficient to draw together as many people as can be packed in Young's Hall.

NAVIGATION. There is quite a stir along the river and sailors are actively and cheerfully engaged, preparing their vessels for operations and quite a number of boats are nearly rigged for a sail. The schooner Emma is quite ready to clear for Sheboygan, and is waiting to be let through the bridge.

SPRING STREET BRIDGE. —Teams have passed over this new structure since Tuesday last. Its completion is a great convenience to the people on this side of the river, and a source of general gratification. The Bridge appears to be well constructed, substantial and bids fair to do good service for some years.

FIRE DEPARTMENT. —Engine Co No 6 hold a special meeting at their House this evening, and the Hook and Ladder Co will hold a special meeting at their House to-morrow evening.

CONSTABLE. The election for Constable in the Second Ward, resulting in a tie between Messrs Fischer and Neuman, they drew a lot at the Common Council rooms, as the law in such cases prescribes, and Fischer proved to be the lucky man.

BRICK. The Schooner D. Newhall has taken on board 1?,000 brick for Chicago, and will clear for that port as soon as she can pass through Walkers Pt Bridge.

ICE CREAM, of the most delicious kind, at EMERY'S, this evening.

Police Court.

Margaret Goetzen was tried yesterday afternoon, for stealing a gold ring of the value of $2.50 from J. P. Weber's Jewelry store on East Water Street, and was found guilty, and sentenced to four months imprisonment in the County Jail. This same girl was sent to Jail, last may, for stealing from J. N. Bonesteel's store, she seems to have a marvellous penchant for larceny.

The case of Chas Blue, a sailor, for an assault upon Richard Caper, a fellow sailor, was settled between the parties and the cost paid.

CIRCUIT COURT. JUDGE HUBBELL Presiding

THURSDAY, March 16

Chas Wurtz, against whom four indictments were found for larceny and burglary, was tried yesterday for breaking into the shop of John Phelan and stealing therefrom a quantity of boots and shoes, and was convicted. Wurtz then plead guilty to the charge of having robbed the store of John Spoul of a large amount of goods with the understanding that a nol pros should be entered in the other two cases standing against him, guarantying that all the stolen property should be forthcoming. The law will now allow of his being sentenced to ten years imprisonment for the crimes that he already has been found guilty of. The business before the Court this forenoon consisted principally of motions, &c.

CAPTAIN GIBBS. This gentleman whose name has been figuring for some days past in the papers of the city and vicinity, disappeared suddenly yesterday morning from the view of his friends and up to a late hour last evening had not reported himself. There are rumors afloat concerning the conduct of the Captain which we hope are not warranted by the facts, and which we refrain from making public at present. Perhaps "it will all be right in the morning."—Chicago Press, 15th inst.

Capt Gibbs, it will be recollected, has been organizing a company to go to Nebraska, in Chicago, and was also in this city on a similar errand a few days ago, but with what success his efforts were crowned here, we are not apprised.

P. S. Since the above was written, we learn that Capt Gibbs was arrested for swindling, but managed to escape.

Winter has left this part of the world, the ground is naked, Spring is coming.

In our village, several new buildings are commenced, and plenty others spoken for. The Congregational society under the direction of Rev. Mr Turner are beginning a new church, which will doubtless be completed before the season closes.

A large Machinery establishment, to be driven by steam power, for planing, sawing and fitting stuff, for all the various building purposes, is under process of erection. In many other particulars the village of Stevens Point exhibits signs of activity, and a healthy growth this season.—Stevens Point Pinery, 9th inst.

EARTHQUAKE. —Three distinct shocks of an earthquake were felt in Manchester, Clay county, Ky., on Sunday night of last week, the first at 11 o'clock in the evening, the second at midnight, and the third at 5 o'clock on the morning of Monday. The first two shocks were very severe, shaking the houses at an alarming rate, and creating no little consternation among the astonished inhabitants of that region. They were felt for about twenty five miles around, and were accompanied by a noise resembling distant thunder.—Mt Sterling Whig.

MAINE LAW ENFORCED IN ILLINOIS.—Some ladies in Milford, Iroquois county, having been aggrieved by a whiskey shop in that village, attacked it, on Sunday evening, 5th instant, cut open the liquor barrels, spilled the contents in the street, and closed the concern by demolishing the glasses and decanters. The popular verdict was almost unanimously in favor of the ladies.

THE PECULIAR INSTITUTION.—$1,900 Lost. A man with his wife and child direct from Lexington, Ky., have just landed at Windsor. Their "master"(?) Mr Baldwin can see them if he will call over where they feel quite happy, breathing freedom's air.—Detroit Dem.

Walter Lowrie, secretary of the General Assembly's Board of Foreign Missions, acknowledges the receipt of $3500, for the press in Northern India, Siam and China.

The Councilmen and Board of Aldermen of New York, have requested the Legislature of the State, to authorize the Board of Health to expend $75,000 to purify the city.

MADISON CORRESPONDENCE.

[REPORTED FOR THE FREE DEMOCRAT.]

MADISON, March 14, 1854

ASSEMBLY.—Communication from Ben. C. Eastman, relating to swamp lands, referred to Committee on State Lands.

Bills Introduced.—By Mr Zimmerman—to incorporate the Germantown Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co. Mr. Gibson—to authorize school district No 1, in the town of La Crosse, to levy a tax. Mr Bell—relating to the manufacturing of brick. Mr. Gary—to amend chap 181, of Private and Local Laws of 1853, entitled an act for the relief of Ezra A. Parker.

The motion offered yesterday by Mr Harrington, to adjourn March 20th, was taken up, and after some discussion, for and against the motion, was lost by a large vote.

Mr. Tophff, from the Committee on Religious and Charitable Institutions, reported a bill to vacate part of the city of Richland, Richland Co. Passed.

Mr. Mitchell, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported in favor of creating an Agricultural Department in the State University. It was quite a lengthy report. The usual number of copies ordered printed.

Mr. Noggle, from the Committee on the Expiration and Reenactment of Laws, made a report against the passage of laws allowing cities, towns and counties to loan their credit to aid in the construction of rail and other roads; or, in his language, "against allowing the majority to vote the minority in debt." 500 copies ordered printed.

The bill returned by the Governor, with his objections, viz: The bill to divide La Crosse Co., and organize Monroe Co.—came up, and the House refused unanimously to pass it against the objections.

Mr Gibson then offered a new bill upon the same subject, with the objectionable clause omitted, which was then passed, under suspension of the rules.

The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Worthington, to amend the standing rule of the House so as to meet hereafter at 9 o'clock, was passed.

The message of the Senate, requesting a committee of conference on the Prohibitory Liquor Law, was read.

Mr Noggle moved to appoint Messrs Knowlton, Remington and Worthington as the committee of conference on the part of the House. Mr N. gave his reasons for introducing the motion. It is not because I have any doubt as to the course the Hon. Speaker will pursue, or out of any disrespect to him. I cheerfully admit that the course of our Speaker has been fair and honorable on this question, and that I believe he will pursue the parliamentary rule should he appoint this committee. But I think it due to the majority of the people of this State, as shown by their vote last fall, that they should be represented by a majority of this committee of conference.

The Senate has appointed two opponents of the bill, and one friend. If the Speaker appoints, and the usual parliamentary rule is pursued there will then be three friends of the bill and three opponents on the committee of conference. We would then be placed in the same position that we now are, and they could not agree upon anything.

Mr Hull raised a question of order, claiming that the rules provide that all committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, and that it would take a vote of two thirds to change the rule.

Speaker Horn decided that the motion was in order, and that he would very willingly be relieved from appointing the committee.

Mr Barney made quite a fierce speech against the motion. I think this an illiberal course. Fair play is a gem and a jewel, and the minority should be represented in the committee of this House. The 19,000 voters who voted against this law [rather steep estimate!] in this State, will not be represented on this committee. I appeal to the humanity, the finer feelings, the human nature of the members to vote it down. I believe I see that it will be voted down.

Mr Donaldson thought the motion proper, and that it showed no disrespect to the Speaker.

Messrs M. J. Thomas and Earnest opposed the motion as illiberal.

Mr Noggle replied to the objections of Mr Barney and others.

Mr Hale opposed the motion; thought the gentleman from Rock had doubt about the course of the Chairman, and that his denial of it was only a cloak to cover up the plan that had been arranged. He then charged Mr. Worthington with being lavish in his praises of the Speaker yesterday, and now he was heaping indignity upon him by the motion before the House. He thought their friendship all a pretense.

Mr Worthington then said: The gentleman from Kenosha [Mr Hale] has proclaimed himself a friend of this bill. I will take the liberty to ask him a single question. The friends of a Prohibitory Liquor Law in the State at large, as well as the members of the Legislature who support this bill, are in favor of that phase of the law which excludes the submission clause, as they deem the amendment of the Senate, by which that clause is added, an unworthy subterfuge and fraud upon the people; and they hold no man to be a true friend to the bill who is disposed to yield to that amendment. Now, is the gentleman a friend of the bill, in this sense? Is he opposed, under all circumstances, to the odious submission clause?

Mr Hale. My action upon the question will tell.

Mr Worthington. It does tell, Mr. Speaker, and has already told. Those who have stood by this measure from the first—who have been its firm, unwavering friends, have known each other from the beginning of this campaign, and they have known through the whole contest the true friends and the pseudo friends of the law. They have not been deceived, either in their friends or foes, and they know on whom to depend.

The gentleman has charged me with being lavish, in my remarks yesterday, in praise of the Speaker, for his fairness in treating this matter in the House, and of now treating him with indignity and contempt, in supporting this resolution. Whatever I said yesterday of the Speaker's impartiality, was said cheerfully, and from my heart; and I now repeat, that not only in that gentleman, but in the Speaker pro tem., as well as in my friend upon my left [Mr. O'Neil], as well as in others, whom it would be invidious to name, we have found open, fair and manly opponents, such as we love to meet, for we know where to find them.

It has been asked, Sir, What have we to do with the Senate? I answer, in this appointment we have much to do with the Senate. The committee which we propose to raise by this resolution is to form but one half of the conference; the other half of which has been appointed by the Senate. That House has appointed a committee of three, of whom two are opponents of this law. The preponderance of Maine Law men in the Legislature entitles them to a majority in the committee, which they can secure in no other way than by the method contemplated in this resolution. If the Speaker should appoint this committee, parliamentary usage would secure at least one opponent of the bill: and thus the committee would be tied, and this measure, which ought to be fairly met, and openly carried or defeated, would fail for want of action on the part of the committee. On the other hand, if the committee is appointed by the House (and the Speaker has expressed his preference for that course), we shall secure a committee which will more fairly represent the views of the Legislature, and the responsibility of defeat, if the measure is defeated, will rest where it ought.

The truth is, Mr. Speaker, there is a chasm in this Rome, into which some precious thing must be cast before we are saved; and whether it may be a portion of the Senate, or the Governor, solitary and alone, who will gird on the harness and mount the warhorse, to act the part of Curtius in filling this chasm, the majority of this House have no disposition to step between them and their fearful responsibilities.

Mr. Hale. The gentleman seems to doubt my position.

Mr. Worthington. By no means, Mr. Speaker. I have not the least doubt as to the gentleman's position.

Several motions were made to strike out the names of members of the committee, and insert others; but the persons proposed or substituted all declined.

The motion was then put—Shall the gentlemen proposed in the motion of Mr Noggle be the committee of conference on the part of the House?

It was carried—ayes 42, noes 29.

There was considerable discussion in the House this afternoon upon amendments offered to the bill to tax all property in the State, and some good hits given. This law brings up a great many opponents, or, at least, advocates of amendments, each one laboring to secure the most liberal exemptions for their particular interests.

Mr. Webster is anxious to secure the vessel interests, and has made two or three speeches on that point. Others look after the interests of incorporated companies.

Mr Horn created a little feeling on the part of Mr. O'Neil, by moving that the clause exempting church property be struck out—stating, at the same time, that he thought all property should be taxed alike, and that he had been informed that there was one church in Milwaukee which held property amounting to about $100,000.

Mr. O'Neil replied. He considered it a stab at the church to which he belonged. It was true that there was a large amount of property, and it stood in the name of the Bishop, instead of in the name of trustees, but it would go to his successors in office. Other States exempted church property, and he hoped this State would not depart from the usual rule. He knew there were those who would be glad to destroy all the churches—there were those who would burn them all.

Mr Horn replied—saying all churches should be taxed, and there was no reason for exempting churches more than other property.

The vote was taken, and the amendment lost.

Mr Hale moved that the clause exempting literary, benevolent and scientific institutions be struck out. He thought they should be taxed. He then referred to the scientific institution at Racine as a case in point.

This called up Mr. Wright, of Racine, who said: The gentleman has said that I was sent here to watch him. I think it time to exercise that supervising care over him now. I have not thought proper to do so heretofore; but I think the present occasion requires that I should exercise it. The many delinquencies of the gentleman make it necessary that he should be looked after. [Great laughter.]

All amendments were lost, up to the time of adjournment. It will be considered again tomorrow.

In the SENATE, to-day, the bills concerning the Insane Asylum and Probate notices were discussed.

There was some sport, yesterday, that I did not give. It was occasioned by Mr. Scott's reading the piece written by the Wisconsin's reporter, signed "Sioux," charging that one of the Maine Law advocates, whose head was silvered o'er, was in the habit of taking his bitters every morning at his boarding-place, as he had been informed by the bar-tender. He finished the piece, saying it was signed "Si-ouks" [great laughter] or "Si-ox!" [Increased laughter.] "Some one near me informs me it is pronounced 'Sou,' which in French means a 'half cent.'" [Laughter.] He then said he should not move to expel "Si-ox;" for he did not apply the coat to himself, as he had not drank in Madison.

Mr. Orton then moved that "Si-ox" be expelled, which the Chair decided to be out of order, as he knew no such person.

There is much talk about "Sioux" in the House, to-day. H. J. P.

A Woman in Jail.—Marshal Brown found an Irish woman sitting in the rain upon the sidewalk, in the lower part of King street, just at dark, last evening, in a state of almost senseless intoxication. She had been taken home some time before, but was so insane through the effects of the liquor she had drank, that she attempted to kill some of her children, and was turned out by her husband or the neighbors into the street. The Marshal put her in jail for the night.—Madison Jour.

It is hinted by the knowing ones, that the liquor law is defeated beyond a reasonable doubt. The Senate will never recede from their present position, because, as it is asserted, and as the people were warned last fall, the Governor is bound to veto the bill should it become a law, and the Senate prefer to take the responsibility of killing it upon themselves, rather than throw it upon him. The people will grow wise, we trust by and by, after the infliction of a few such experiences.—Ib.

ACCORDING to a statement published, it appears that the total number of Odd Fellows in this State on the 31st of December last, was 17,266. Of these, 4,108 belonged to the Lodges of Cincinnati.—Sandusky (O.) Reg.

Starvation is said to be an American word first introduced authoritatively by Webster in his dictionary.

Baltimore has a population of 170,000 and appropriates this year $149,000 for public schools.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The U. S. steamer Princeton has received sailing orders and is now lying off the Battery with her supplies on board, ready to sail at a moment's warning.—Her destination is supposed to be Cadiz, to carry out the result of the deliberations of the Black Warrior affair. A dispatch from Washington in the Times states that a powerful influence was yesterday brought to bear upon the President to induce him not to recommend a suspension of the neutrality laws in relation to Spain. A majority in the Cabinet was decidedly for it.

The Cabinet is said to stand thus – Marcy, Cushing, Davis and Campbell for decisive measures against Spain; Guthrie and McClelland, doubtful.

The steamer George Law from Aspinwall 5th via Kingston, arrived at 12½ to-day. She brings $978,000 and 240 passengers. Among the passengers are Messrs. Holcomb, Winthrop, and Bird, belonging to the parties detailed from the frigate Cyane to survey a canal route across the Isthmus of Darien.

The clipper ship Comet arrived this morning in the unprecedented space of 75 days, 7 hours from San Francisco.

The Panama Star of the latest date has the following important intelligence from Western Mexico by the steamer California. We learn that the inhabitants of Acapulco and all that portion of Mexico were in a state of excitement in consequence of a revolution which had recently broken out among them.

It appears that the inhabitants of this and some of the bordering States have taken arms under Gen. Alvere and declared themselves free and independent, and are ready to enforce it if necessary. No positive engagement had occurred between the opposing parties, but it is said by some that a slight skirmish had taken place on the plaza Chilpanthzings, where Santa Anna had 2,000 men under arms.

There was a rumor in San Salvador that 800 North Americans had disembarked at Omsa as allies of Honduras. An attempt has been making, but unsuccessfull, to restore peace between Honduras and Guatamala.

LOUISVILLE, March 14.—The steamer Caroline running to Memphis was burned on Sunday at the mouth of the White river. The boat was totally destroyed and 40 or 50 lives lost.—The flames spread so rapidly that scarcely any escaped. As soon as the fire was discovered, the pilot run her on to a bank; 15 persons seized the yawl and attempted to reach the shore, but the boat sunk and all perished. Capt Craighton jumped overboard and was lost.—John Price, pilot perished at the wheel. The boat was burned to the water edge, when she slid off and sunk. The boat and cargo were a total loss. Only —— Cabin passengers were lost. The remainder of the victims were hands and deck passengers.

BOSTON, March 14.—There is much exultation among a portion of our citizens caused by the decision of the Supreme Court against the constitutionality of a portion of the liquor law.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The steamer Nashville sailed to-day for Southampton and Havre, with 24 passengers, and $364,000 in specie.

GREATEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.—At Montreal the Grand Trunk road is to cross the St Lawrence upon a magnificent tubular iron bridge, costing some $7,500,000, a mile and a quarter in length, or, including the solid embankments at the ends, two miles. This bridge will be unequalled among the great works of the world. It will have in the center an elevation of 100 feet above the channel, which is attained by an easy grade on each side.—Twenty-two massive piers, with spaces of 250 feet between them support the structure, and the most skillful arrangements are made to protect it against the ice which in the spring comes crashing and piling down the river with awful power. It was first proposed to build the bridge of wood, but that plan has been abandoned for the more permanent one, notwithstanding the vast additional expense.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Cincinnati Enquirer states that Mrs Capt. Cummings, wife of one of the Martha Washington prisoners, has gone to Arkansas, not only with the view of meeting her husband but with the avowed intention of challenging Sidney C. Burton to fight a duel.

PERSONS writing to agents in the Departments, on personal affairs, must pay the postage in future. An official notice from the State Department says that postage can be allowed on official matter only.

The Baltimore Patriot says the amount of guano which will be imported into that city, the present year, will probably reach 60,000 tons, costing $3,000,000.

Government has purchased a building on the corner of Murray street and College place, New York, for the sum of $60,000, to be used for the United States Courts.

Six hundred teachers have had the advantages of a training in the Normal School of Connecticut, since its incorporation.

EVERGREENS! EVERGREENS!

THE following varieties: BALSAM AND NORWAY FIR, SPRUCE, PINE, HEMLOCK AND ARBOR VITÆ.

It is a well known fact, that for the last ten or more years, large quantities of Balsam Firs and Spruce have been brought from the islands north on steamboats and vessels, and sold in Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha, at prices called Cheap, say from one to four shillings each; the quantity sold will amount to many hundred dollars each year, and it is equally well known that not over one in a hundred have lived. The few that have lived, have cost, deducting dead ones, over ten dollars each. To remedy this great loss and perplexity, I propose to sell Evergreens from two to five feet high for $1 to $4 each, according to size and form, and deliver them in Milwaukee, Racine, Whitewater, Janesville, Madison, Watertown, or at any town or village on the M. & M. Railroad. I will superintend the planting out, and guarantee them to live, provided enough are taken to any one town to amount to $20. My trees have been grown in my garden for the last two years, are perfectly healthy, and trained in a beautiful Pyramidal form. Samples can be seen on the premises of C. WALL, Esq., Milwaukee, or in my garden.

PIE PLANT.

Colson's Seedling Pie Plant, I have for sale in quantities to suit purchasers. It is so well known in Wisconsin, that I deem a description unnecessary.

FRUIT TREES.

Best leading varieties of Apples, Plums, Pears, Cherries, Quinces, Grapes, Raspberries, and Gooseberries, the best stock both of American and English. Also, new English Prize varieties under cultivation, and will be ready for delivery, as soon as fully tested in this climate. Among many varieties imported last season, will be found the following with their weights and colors: London Red, 37 pwt. 7 grs., Catherine Yellow, 32 pwt. 8 grs., Thompson Green, 28 pwt. 13 grs., Cossea White, 28 pwt. 8 grs.

FLOWERING SHRUBS.

Most of the old leading varieties, and many new and very choice ones. To those who can't afford to wait for common sized Shrubs to grow, can be accommodated with large clusters of Deutzias, Syringas, Lilacs and Weigelas, from six to ten times the usual size, sold from Nurseries. I will warrant them to live and bloom the first season. Large quantities of usual size and price. Mountain Ash, both American and European, grown from seed, of beautiful form and vigorous growth.

Dahlias, a large stock and very choice varieties, equal to any that will be offered in the western market.

Peonies, of various shades and colors.

Mexican Tiger Flowers, and many other Bulbs, Tubers, and Flowering Roots, &c.

Old Colony Sweet Corn, raised by the Rev. A. R. Pope. It is a true hybrid and the most remarkable variety ever produced. It was raised in 1847, from the southern white, impregnated with the early New England Sweet Corn. The ears are of remarkable size, from 10 to 24 rows each. It is the richest, sweetest, and most delicious Corn known.

Also, Stowell's LATE GREEN SWEET CORN, so fully described by Prof. J. J. Mapes, of the Working Farmer.

Both of the above varieties were raised by me the past year, and were fully ripe before the first frost. The yield was more than double that of any of the old varieties of Sweet Corn. The seed of both the above named kinds will be put up in packages and sold for one shilling each, and will be deposited in the Seed Stores in the Eastern and Central parts of the State.

☞ Trees, Shrubs and Roots will be delivered in Milwaukee early in April. B. P. CAHOON

Clear Shining After Rain.

The wind doth moan, and the cold rain fall,
And the garden blooms no more:
But the dark clouds fly
O'er the wintry sky,
And the sweet flowers now that decaying lie,
Shall the spring restore.

So care may come with a blighting breath,
And the hopes of life decline;
But the tear and sigh
With the hour flit by,
As the wind and rain from the cloudy sky,
Neath the bright sunshine.

And Death his shadowy wing shall spread
O'er the young head, fair and gay;
As the flower shall fade
'Neath its beautiful shade,
His youth in the bed that the worms invade
For the mouldering prey.

In vain the wind and the rain shall beat
O'er the dreamless sleeper there;
Though many a year
Shall the winter sere,
Return with the howling tempest drear,
To the son of care.

How [illegible] the winds be calm to him,
And his grave sweep softly o'er;

Dated Sheriff's Office, Milwaukee, Feb 16, 1854.

CAUTION.

THE Public are cautioned against using Baking powder, Cream Tartar, or other Acids, for rising bread, &c., without satisfying themselves that they are pure. It is well known to the wholesale dealers in these articles that the impure article contains Alum, Lead, Lime, and other injurious ingredients. Pure Baking Powders cannot be sold so as to be very profitable to wholesalers, consequently the greater their efforts to sell an impure article. The manufacturer of Reed's Baking Powder uses an article that has been analyzed and found to contain only 1-100 th part of impurities, and is consequently perfectly safe.—This is written merely as a caution, as the manufacturer has already more orders than he can fill. Reed's Baking Powders, pure Cream Tartar and Soda, at wholesale and retail, at 235 and 237 East Water st., Milwaukee. Orders to be filled must invariably be accompanied with the money. THE CATHOLIC PULPIT,—Containing a Sermon for every Sunday and Holiday in the year and for Good Friday. From the last revised London Edition.

This most valuable and celebrated periodical has just arrived at C. OTT'S Bookstore, 275 East Water street, where subscriptions will be received. The work will be completed in semi-monthly numbers, making one vol. volume of nearly 800 pages, at the low price of two dollars.

To the practical judge of eloquence, this work presents a wide and varied ground of comparisons between the respective styles of French, English, German and Italian Oratory.

C. OTT is also Agent for the "Shepherd of the Valley," published at St. Louis—a paper that deserves the widest circulation. june17

BOOTH'S INK FOR SCHOOLS.

EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 29, 1853.

W. W. BOOTH:

Dear Sir—I feel [illegible] obligations to you for the dozen bottles [illegible] Black Ink. Several bottles are being used [illegible] with most gratifying satisfaction. We hear not that common complaint of "poor pens," which we so often hear where an inferior or ordinary article of ink is used. The ink [illegible] it a superiority over other articles of the same name, but the readiness with which it always flows from the pen, and the property which it possesses of preventing metallic pens from corroding, [illegible] I can most cheerfully recommend its introduction into our primary schools as being precisely adapted to the use of children. Respectfully Yours, &c.,

1853. WINTER TRADE. 1853.
JOHN D. GARDINER,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS!
No. 135 East Water Street, Milwaukee.
Sound the loud timbrel o'er Prairie and River!
Proclaim the glad tidings—Goods cheaper than ever!
IN VIEW of the luxuriant crops with the great staples of our young and glorious State, and the good prices they at present command, and the consequent increased ability of our farmers to buy, as well as the increased activity of business generally among all classes, the subscriber has been induced to make extra importations for a large and extensive trade. In anticipation of this increased demand for Dry Goods, he has spent a portion of the past summer in the East, where he has been engaged in buying one of the largest and most varied stock of Dry Goods that he has ever yet brought into Wisconsin. In buying these Goods he has taken the utmost pains in selecting the best and most fashionable styles and qualities.
His purchases have been made by the Bale, Case and Package, direct of the Manufacturers or their Agents, the Importers and at Auction. His facilities for buying fully warrant him in saying that they are equalled but by few and excelled by no firm in the trade. The old maxim that "Goods well bought are half sold" has governed him in his purchases. And knowing that he buys as low, he is determined not to be undersold in a fair and legitimate way. Come then, all you who are weary and heavy laden with the yellow corn or even wheat, with good promises to pay, and we will give you rest, and in our efforts to those who are hungry and naked, by selling goods cheaper than ever.
This fact we desire to keep prominently and permanently before the People—THAT WE DO NOT PERMIT OURSELVES UNDER ANY REASONABLE CIRCUMSTANCES TO BE UNDERSOLD. Remember it.
Our stock consists in part of the following articles.

The Warrior's Prayer.

Beneath the silvery moon
An army's tents were spread,
And softly on the slumbering earth
The dews of Heaven were shed;
No sound of battle then
Was heard amid the dell—
Naught but the dull and heavy tread
Of the sleepless sentinel.

The weary soldiers slept,
And sweet was their repose—
Yet must they wake no mortal strife
When the morning herald crows,
For distant but a league,
The foe's white tents are seen.
And only till the coming dawn
Is it neutral ground between

Life in the hostile camp!
They may not, dare not rest,
This a troublous thought that dwells
In every foeman's breast
On the morrow must they meet
A bold, determined band,
Whose watch-word carries might—
'God and their suffering land!'

The leader of the foe
On a thorny pillow lies,
And gloomy phantoms hover round
To vex his sleepless eyes;
For he knows that with the dawn
He must lead his army on
To a most inglorious strife,
Till the field is lost or won

Not in unquiet rest
Was the leader of the free
Where the forest spread its shade
The warrior bent his knee,
He bared his noble brow
By the sparkling streamlet's shore,
And his solemn prayer to Heaven
The whispering zephyr bore

Oh! who shall know the might
Of the words he uttered there!
The fate of nations then was turned
By the fervor of his prayer
But would ye know his name,
Who wandered there alone?
Go, read, enrolled in Heaven's archives,
The prayer of WASHINGTON!

JULIAN CRAMER

The Voice of the Slop Shirt.

It was a little bundle, neatly packed and lying on the counter. The shop was old and weather stained, but the man that kept it, he was old and sin stained. The hollow in his face looked out as if mercy had there laid her length and died, and if there ever was kindness in his eye, it was before he let his soul on a lease to avarice. We said there was a little bundle neatly packed, lying there, but there was something else—a bony, bluish, knotty veined, tarnished looking hand—a woman's hand. It seemed as if the blood had never a generous tending to these poor veins; or if it had, hunger kept it back

Under a ragged green veil, a face peered out that was pinched and homely, none of your beauty in distress was hers; the bitterness at her heart had wrenched all comeliness away, and she stood there a suffering miserable, slop-shop slave

Before the woman had spoken, a stranger entered. At the sound of her voice he stayed his steps, for the concentration of years of agony, meted out hour by hour, moment by moment, tick by tick of the clock, seemed infused in that hollow, sepulchral voice

'And you won't pay me?'

'Not a cent,' rung out sharply, like the twang of a rusty wire, 't'other shirt was spoiled for custom, you oughter make half a dozen more for nothin'

'But my baby was dying while I was finishing that, and the tears blinded me till I cut the button holes too big. I buried my poor baby—thank God for taking it from misery—and that's what I want the money for.'

'Can't help it—don't whine at me; think I can bury all the poor babies in creation?'

The woman threw down her veil and turned to go—and as she reached the door, she exclaimed in a shrill tone, 'You are warm here, and your children are warm at home; my children are starving and freezing, and dying;' and with an unearthly shriek, she burst from the shop, and plunged to battle with the fierce wind

The stranger who had witnessed all this, bought the shirt—but with it he bought also the memory of that wretched scene. Day and night it had a voice for his ear, and a vision for his eye

He saw ghastly and sinful creatures moving about the pavement, but he dared not judge them with man's judgment, for he thought of that hollow voice, 'My baby was dying, and the tears blinded me!' How knew he but cruel want had driven them to crime?

The slop shirt! Little do we heed its voice. It comes to us shining and snowy. No record it bears of the tears that stained its whiteness, they are all washed away. It reminds us not that the heart-broken sighs of the needy have been dropped thickly amid its folds. Crowding about it, we see no wan faces of famishing children. Close—close has it laid with the shroud over the mother's faded hopes. It has seen the last coal die out in the night gloom. About frozen fingers has it been wrapped, in laps of luxury once nestled, has it laid. It has felt the touch of hands once soft and white and covered with jewels, it has crowed back the tears in eyes once blue, bright and beautiful, now how cold and dim!

Ah! listen well to the voice of the slop shirt. Say a word at all times, and every where for the poor sisterhood who live by stitching. No matter whether they were bred in a palace, or never saw better than the walls of the hovel, they are God's children, held under the lash of man's hard bondage. Be pitiful, then, whenever you hear the voice of the slop shirt.—Boston Olive Branch

HALLAM THE HISTORIAN.—In his voyage up the Rhine, Campbell met on the steamboat the historian of the middle ages. "Hallam is a most excellent man," said the poet in one of his letters, "of great acuteness, and of immense research in reading. I believe him to have neither gall nor bitterness; and yet he is a perfect boa constrictor! * * His powers of study are like those of the scholars of the Alexandrian Academy, whose viscera were alleged to be made of brass. He beats Sydney Smith himself, with his provoking accuracy as to matters of fact. Smith once said to me, 'If Hallam were in the midst of a full assembly of scientific men, and if Euclid were to enter the room, with his Elements under his arm, and were to say, 'Gentlemen, I suppose no one present doubts the truth of the Forty-fifth Proposition of my First Book of Elements,' Mr. Hallam would say, 'Yes, I have my doubts.'"

1853. WINTER TRADE. 1853.
JOHN D. GARDINER,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALER IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC DRY GOODS!
No. 135 East Water Street, Milwaukee.
Sound the loud timbrel o'er Prairie and River!
Proclaim the glad tidings—Goods cheaper than ever!

IN VIEW of the luxuriant crops and the great staples of our young and glorious State, and the good prices they at present command, and the consequent increased ability of our farmers to buy, as well as the increased activity of business generally, among all classes, the subscriber has been induced to make extra preparations for a large and extensive trade. In anticipation of this increased demand for Dry Goods he has spent a portion of the past summer and fall, east, where he has been engaged in buying one of the largest and most varied stock of Dry Goods that he has ever yet brought into Wisconsin. In buying these Goods, he has taken the utmost pains to select the best and most fashionable styles and qualities.
His purchases have been made by the Bale, Case and Package direct of the Manufacturers or their Agents, the larger portion at Auction. His facilities for buying, fully warrant him in saying that they are equalled but by few, and excelled by no firm in the trade. The old maxim that "Goods well bought are half sold" has governed him in his purchases. And knowing that he buys as low, he is determined not to be undersold in a fair and legitimate way. Come then, all you who are weary and heavy laden with the yellow corn, or overburthened with good premises to pay, and we will give you rest, and impart comfort to those who are hungry and naked, by selling goods cheaper than ever.
This fact we desire to keep prominently and permanently before the People—THAT WE DO NOT PERMIT OUR SELVES UNDER ANY REASONABLE CIRCUMSTANCES TO BE UNDERSOLD. Remember it.
Our stock consists in part of the following articles.

100 bales Sheeting,	10 cases bleached Shirting,

The Warrior's Prayer.

Beneath the silvery moon
An army's tents were spread,
And softly on the slumbering earth
The dews of Heaven were shed;
No sound of battle then
Was heard amid the dell—
Naught but the dull and heavy tread
Of the sleepless sentinel.

The weary soldiers slept,
And sweet was their repose—
Yet must they wake no mortal strife
When the morning herald crows;
For distant but a league,
The foe's white tents are seen,
And only till the coming dawn
Is it neutral ground between

Life in the hostile camp!
They may not, dare not rest,
This a troublous thought that dwells
In every foeman's breast.
On the morrow must they meet
A bold, determined band,
Whose watch-word carries might—
"God and their suffering land!"

The leader of the foe
On a thorny pillow lies,
And gloomy phantoms hover round
To vex his sleepless eyes;
For he knows that with the dawn
He must lead his army on
To a most inglorious strife,
Till the field is lost or won

Not in unquiet rest
Was the leader of the free:
Where the forest spread its shade
The warrior bent his knee,
He bared his noble brow
By the sparkling streamlet's shore,
And his solemn prayer to Heaven
The whispering zephyr bore.

Oh! who shall know the might
Of the words he uttered there!
The fate of nations then was turned
By the terror of his prayer
But would ye know his name;
Who wandered there alone!
Go, read, enrolled in Heaven's archives,
The prayer of WASHINGTON!

JULIAN CRAMER

The Voice of the Slop Shirt.

It was a little bundle, neatly packed and lying on the counter. The shop was old and weather stained, but the man that kept it, he was old and sin stained. The hollow in his face looked out as if mercy had there laid her length and died; and if there ever was kindness in his eye, it was before he let his soul on a lease to avarice. We said there was a little bundle neatly packed, lying there, but there was something else—a bony, bluish, knotty veined, famished looking hand—a woman's hand. It seemed as if the blood had never a generous tending to these poor veins; or if it had, hunger kept it back.

Under a ragged green veil, a face peered out that was pinched and homely; none of your beauty in distress was hers; the bitterness at her heart had wrenched all comeliness away, and she stood there a suffering miserable, slop-shop slave.

Before the woman had spoken, a stranger entered. At the sound of her voice he stayed his steps, for the concentration of years of agony, meted out hour by hour, moment by moment, tick by tick of the clock, seemed infused in that hollow, sepulchral voice.

'And you won't pay me?'

'Not a cent,' rung out sharply, like the twang of a rusty wire; 't'other shirt was spoiled for custom, you oughter make half a dozen more for nothin'.'

'But my baby was dying while I was finishing that, and the tears blinded me till I cut the button holes too big. I buried my poor baby—thank God for taking it from misery—and that's what I want the money for.'

'Can't help it—don't whine at me; think I can bury all the poor babies in creation?'

The woman threw down her veil and turned to go—and as she reached the door, she exclaimed in a shrill tone, 'You are warm here, and your children are warm at home; my children are starving and freezing, and dying;' and with an unearthly shriek, she burst from the shop, and plunged to battle with the fierce wind.

The stranger who had witnessed all this, bought the shirt—but with it he bought also the memory of that wretched scene. Day and night it had a voice for his ear, and a vision for his eye.

He saw ghastly and sinful creatures moving about the pavement, but he dared not judge them with man's judgment, for he thought of that hollow voice, 'My baby was dying, and the tears blinded me!' How knew he but cruel want had driven them to crime?

The slop shirt! Little do we heed its voice. It comes to us shining and snowy. No record it bears of the tears that stained its whiteness, they are all washed away. It reminds us not that the heart-broken sighs of the needy have been dropped thickly amid its folds. Crowding about it, we see no wan faces of famishing children. Close—close has it laid with the shroud over the mother's faded hopes. It has seen the last coal die out in the night gloom. About frozen fingers has it been wrapped, in laps of luxury once nestled, has it laid. It has felt the touch of hands once soft and white and covered with jewels, it has crowed back the tears in eyes once blue, bright and beautiful, now how cold and dim!

Ah! listen well to the voice of the slop shirt. Say a word at all times, and every where for the poor sisterhood who live by stitching. No matter whether they were bred in a palace, or never saw better than the walls of the hovel, they are God's children, held under the lash of man's hard bondage. Be pitiful, then, whenever you hear the voice of the slop shirt.—Boston Olive Branch

HALLAM THE HISTORIAN.—In his voyage up the Rhine, Campbell met on the steamboat the historian of the middle ages. "Hallam is a most excellent man," said the poet in one of his letters, "of great acuteness, and of immense research in reading. I believe him to have neither gall nor bitterness; and yet he's a perfect boa-constrictor! * * His powers of study are like those of the scholars of the Alexandrian Academy, whose viscera were alleged to be made of brass. He beats Sydney Smith himself, with his provoking accuracy as to matters of fact. Smith once said to me, 'If Hallam were in the midst of a full assembly of scientific men, and if Euclid were to enter the room, with his Elements under his arm, and were to say, 'Gentlemen, I suppose no one present doubts the truth of the Forty-fifth Proposition of my First Book of Elements,' Mr. Hallam would say, 'Yes, I have my doubts.'"

S. M. BOOTH, EDITOR

MILWAUKEE:

THURSDAY: MARCH 16.

For President in 1856,
JOHN P. HALE, of New York.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
GEORGE W. JULIAN, of Indiana.

Who is Responsible?

The oppressions and tyrannies of Charles the First, brought his head to the block, and, in the verdict of mankind, he was the author of his own doom.

Great Britain, after a long series of injuries, changed the hearts of the people of her colonies, and accomplished a final separation from the mother country.

Jeffreys, after the most infamous judicial career, during which the lives and liberties of many were sacrificed, was torn in pieces by the people, having plucked down destruction on his own head, and perished miserably, accursed of God and man.

In all these cases, and in a hundred more which we might instance, the guilty, responsible authors of popular outbreaks, were the unjust, oppressive and tyrannical Governments, and the arbitrary and illegal decisions of corrupt Judges who enforced their decrees. The people are long-suffering and patient. It is only when their rights are infringed, and their personal liberty is at stake, and when submission to Governmental and judicial usurpations would peril their rights and liberties, that they rise up in their majesty, and vindicate them by force.

It was the glaring usurpation, on the part of Judge Miller, which led to the final proceedings on Saturday last. He had nullified the U. S. Constitution and the Constitution and Laws of this State, and trampled on our State Sovereignty and on the liberties of the People, by refusing the writ of habeas corpus, and declaring that no earthly power should take Glover out of his hands. Wrapping around him the folds of his office, he set at defiance Constitution and laws, Rights and Liberties, the State and the People of Wisconsin. He made the issue boldly—Judge Miller vs the People and Liberty—and the People met the issue like men who scorned to be slaves. There was no previous concert of action, and no design of a forcible rescue, but all were looking for the issue of a trial before Judge Jenkins, on the writ of habeas corpus. But when Mr Watkins announced, on behalf of the Committee, that Judge Miller had refused to permit the writ of habeas corpus to be obeyed, and the People saw that if they submitted to this, that the State sovereignty, the writ of habeas corpus, and their own rights were trampled under foot, without premeditation or plan, they walked straight to the jail, opened the prison doors, and set Glover free. The exciting cause to this act was Judge Miller, and whatever violence was committed was the legitimate result of his decision. And if the U. S. District Court perseveres in this course, and continues his high-handed usurpations, he will not only render his name infamous throughout the world, but will make the Federal Court a stench in the nostrils of the People of Wisconsin.

This prosecution against us is not a personal matter. We have been selected as the first victim, because it was thought more prejudice could be brought to bear against us than against others, and that it would have a tendency to humble the tone of our press. Of their success our columns will bear witness from day to day. The object of this prosecution is to establish the law of Slavery and kidnapping on the free soil of Wisconsin, and to make this a Slave State. It is to send out human bloodhounds armed with the authority of law, to scour the prairies and plains of Wisconsin, on the scent for human game. And if this prosecution succeeds, we are not to be the only victim. Arrests and prosecutions in abundance are to follow. The people of this State are to be taught that they are the slaves of the Slave Power—It is a hard lesson, and before it is learned, we believe, the Slave Power will be overthrown. The U. S. Government has appropriated $100,000 to prosecute the Fugitive cases, and as they put this into the pockets of the U. S. officers, the more prosecutions the better. It is an array of Power and Money against the People and Liberty.

Uncle Tom vs. Judge Miller.

The Marsh Troupe are here playing Uncle Tom every evening in Young's Hall, and preaching up the old Patrick Henry doctrine of Liberty or Death—the very doctrine carried out by the people at the Court-House, in rescuing Glover. They go so far as to justify the Fugitive in shooting down the Slave-Catchers, rather than surrender, and be carried back into Slavery. And what is still worse, the people flock in crowds to hear these performances, and cheer them to the very echo. This is an awful state of things! and we submit whether Judge Miller should not arrest the troupe at once, and have them tried for riot, and for aiding Glover to escape. They are in the same category with us. And when the Judge has disposed of them, he should get up an indictment against Human Nature, which is a Great Incendiary—always taking the part of the oppressed.

The Erie difficulty has been settled and a bill has been prepared in committee of the Pennsylvania Legislature, said to give satisfaction to all parties, by which the Cleveland, Painesville, and Ashtabula roads agree to construct a road from some point west of Erie—this to connect with the Sunbury road at Meadville. There is little doubt but it will pass the Legislature.

[illegible]. WELDON'S speech we will try to make [illegible] for to-morrow, as it is but fair that as [illegible] opponent of the Prohibitory Law [illegible].

[illegible] has news about the Slave [illegible] citizens, at least, for the [illegible] opposed.

The Wisconsin Land Grant.

There is a bill now before the House of Representatives proposing to make an extensive grant of the public lands to the State of Wisconsin, to aid in the construction of a certain railroad. Now, we hold the principle of these grants to be exceedingly doubtful in any case. Let the homestead bill be passed and actual settlers take possession of the lands, and the need of such aid will exist no longer, because the people of the State will be able to build their own roads. But this bill is liable to other objections of a still more immediate and conclusive nature. It does not merely give the land to the State to help such railroad enterprises as the people may judge most worthy of assistance, but it prescribes the points where the road shall run, locates it and in fact puts the whole into the hands of a company of speculators of very doubtful antecedents, and thus enables them to break down railroads already set on foot and in a great measure completed by the people themselves.

In laying down the place through which the road must run, the bill entirely excludes the Lake shore and towns from the benefit of the grants. This alone is something which can hardly be justified on the part of Congress. The Lake shore towns of Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Sheboygan, and Manitowoc, are all engaged to a greater or less extent in the construction of railroads. From Milwaukee, several roads, have made considerable advances into the country, particularly the Milwaukee and Mississippi road, which was the pioneer road of the State, and is now running to within a few miles of Madison, the Capital, a distance of one hundred miles. This road has been built entirely by private enterprise, and is owned and controlled by the people of the State. So deep has been the interest of the inhabitants along its route, and so much confidence has been reposed in the soundness of its management, that a large number of the farmers have mortgaged their farms to raise the money to carry it forward. The contemplated grant, on the part of Government, provides for the building of a road side by side, with this one for a considerable distance. Can this be right? Shall Congress step in with its strong arm to cripple and break down private enterprise? The same is true of the Milwaukee and La Crosse road, another undertaking to advance which, the citizens have subscribed and paid a large sum. But why keep away from the Lake ports in continuing the great southern rout from Chicago to Lake Superior? Certainly that route is far more direct along the shore of Lake Michigan from Chicago, at any rate as far north as Milwaukee, and perhaps to Sheboygan, before it bears westward toward Lake Superior. In a governmental point of view this route would be far better, since beside its greater directness, it would permit the road to be reached by shipping at half a dozen or more ports instead of a single one. But aside from this consideration, we have a strong sympathy for the Lake shore towns of Wisconsin. They have been the great gateway through which the five hundred thousand inhabitants of the State have passed. They were the first to build common highways, then plank roads, and lastly with a noble enterprise, to take in hand the more formidable work of building railroads. It is to these efforts on the part of the Lake Cities, that much of the importance and power of the State is to be attributed, and we confess that we should be very sorry to see such a disposition of these lands as would be calculated to break down their hard-earned prosperity. If land must be given let it be directly to the State, and let the distribution be made by the Legislature which certainly should be the best judge, both as to where and how such aid ought to be applied.—N. Y. Tribune

Judge Miller's Decision Examined.

The Sentinel has an able communication, on Judge Millers decision, condemmining it in pointed terms.

After insisting on the right and duty of the State Courts to protect its citizens against the usurpation of the Federal Courts, the writer says:

"It is a well known rule of law, that when an officer executes his writ oppressively, or in making an arrest uses more force than is necessary, he becomes a trespasser from the beginning, and his writ is no justification. Garland and his compeers had knocked down Glover, and cut his head open, and the assault and battery consisted in doing these acts unnecessarily.

"If these acts were unnecessary, they were not acts done 'in pursuance of a law of the United States, or any order, process or decree of any judge or court of the United States.' The warrant of Judge Miller did not command the Marshal to break the head of Glover. That act was not in pursuance of any U. S. authority! How, then, does the Judge get jurisdiction to try this fact? A Marshal cannot beat, wound and maim, in the execution of a process of the U. S. on State soil, and escape responsibility to State laws. How, then, did the Judge try this fact, whether the beating and knocking down, and cutting of scalps was necessary or not? If not necessary it was crime against the State.—And Judge Miller tries this crime by the return of the Marshal! for he says that 'Cotton's return states that no more force was used than was necessary to execute the warrant.' This is strange doctrine in lawyers' ears. The return of an officer is evidence for certain purposes. But no return, or part of return, is evidence unless it is required by law to be made. Who, before this, ever heard of an officer making return that he had used no more force than was necessary? And who before ever heard of judicial notice being taken of such a return? I say nothing here of the palpable fact, and the palpable trickery and dishonesty of the fact, that this portion of the return was made for the occasion of Garland's benefit. But I cannot avoid confessing my shame that it should have been judicially noticed. The fact is, it was not the least of kin to evidence. But according to this, if a marshal commit robbery, arson, or murder, while executing U. S. process, and if arrested, he is only to return upon his writ that he had used no more force than was necessary, and the federal judge nullifies the power and laws of the State and sets him scot free."

Judicial Economy.

ED. FREE DEMOCRAT:

Your reference to a certain "tin-cup" Judge, in the early history of our Territory, calls to mind another incident of self-denying "judicial economy," said to have been practised by this same public functionary, in years agone.

The Judge was taken violently sick, and sent for his physician, Dr. B*, who at once prescribed an emetic. The Judge, however, recovered without taking the nauseous dose, and with that keen foresight which always prompted him to make the most capital from the smallest investment, he proposed to his "better half" that she should take the emetic, that there might be nothing lost! The good woman did so, and made herself sick. Of course, when Dr. B. presented his bill, the item for the emetic was protested, as he didn't take it—and whether an action for damages was entered in the "tin-cup court," on behalf of injuries to his wife, has not yet transpired, as no "reporters" are known in his court. X.

LARGEST GROWTH YET.—We have now in our office a plum graft, of one year's growth, 7 feet 7½ inches long, raised by M. Newberry, of this city. Another branch measured 7 feet 6 inches. Who can produce its equal?

THE citizens of Chicago determine by ballot, at their April election, whether the Illinois river shall be [illegible] or not.

SENTIMENT OF THE PRESS.

The Kidnapping Case.

THE FUGITIVE CASE—S. M. Booth.—There is some salt in Sodom. Milwaukee has behaved nobly in this matter.

To the whole city of Milwaukee, and to its foreign population particularly—and the Germans especially—must the meed of praise be extended, for the good deed done.

And the same and even more may be said of Racine and its people.

And to none is due a greater share of commendation, for prompt, efficient, and well-timed action, than to S. M. BOOTH.

Finding that printing hand-bills would consume time, he mounted a horse, and rode through the streets calling the people together. Hardly twenty minutes were consumed by him in traversing the city, and when he got to the place of meeting, the people were there.

He violated no law and counselled no violation; but acted like a Man in an emergency which demanded Men, and deserves the thanks of all.—Kenosha Tel.

Such has been the termination of the first attempt in Wisconsin, to enforce the odious Fugitive slave law. While every thinking man must dislike to see the laws of the land trampled upon, and the mob triumphant, he will feel a stronger emotion for which dislike is altogether too tame a word, that our law givers have passed enactments so inherently unjust that no good man can or will obey them. At this time, particularly, the public mind is peculiarly inflammable. The Senate of the United States, which should be the most dignified, the most noble, the most honorable body upon earth, have just violated public faith, trampled upon solemn covenants, disregarded the voice of justice, humanity and civilization; and when such a body is guilty of such acts, can it be expected that an excited populace will be over-nice, in disregarding their own feeling for the sake of upholding an opprobrious and cruel law?

All over this broad State, into every peaceful village, and quiet homestead, the press will carry the intelligence of this outrage upon humanity, of this barbaric assault upon a man guilty of no offence, except, in the language of an ancient hero, which has often been admired, that of "deeming himself worthy of liberty."—And wherever this intelligence goes, the popular heart will beat high with indignation against the men who have legalized this great wrong, and make kidnapping a legitimate business.—The popular heart, too, though the act may have been lawless, will approve and exult over the discomfiture of the man-hunter. Let them remember that this is but a far-off ramification of that system of gigantic wrongs against which their representatives in our State Senate refuse to lend the influence of their votes in excluding from territory now free.—Madison Journal.

We are not among those who countenance riot or uphold disobedience to the laws. No one can deprecate more than we do every manifestation of mob-rule and violence, and we are happy in being able to say that neither has prevailed in the conduct of this matter. No violence of any kind has been done, but the people have calmly and resolutely shown that that damning act of human perfidy and wickedness, the fugitive slave law, is not the law of Wisconsin—that a higher and better rule of conduct governs us here than the best that ever swayed the hearts or heads of the authors of that iniquity. The fugitive slave law can not be enforced in Wisconsin. This the minions of the slave power may as well learn sooner or later. The people will not suffer it; they understand too well that great charter of rights which is the birthright of every man, whatever be the color of his skin—rights which no human legislation can abrogate or annul, and which will remain while justice and mercy are not erased from the statutes of God. The greatest credit, if any distinction can be made, is due to the German citizens of Milwaukee and other places for the glorious part they took in this affair. Names of some of the citizens of this city and Waukesha might be mentioned with honor, but we have no wish to make individuous distinctions when all acted so noble a part.—Racine Advocate.

MORE OF THE SLAVE CASE—Arrest of Mr. Booth.—Mr. Booth, of the Free Dem., was arrested yesterday, on a warrant from the U. S. Commissioner Winfield Smith, on the charge of "aiding and abetting" in the escape of Joshua Glover, the fugitive slave, on Saturday. On the motion of his counsel, the hearing was postponed till Tuesday of next week, Mr. Booth being allowed to go at large on parole.

If the federal authorities about here are anxious to keep up the excitement in relation to this subject, they have hit upon the way to do it. If they are determined to keep our city in a ferment for months, as Boston and Syracuse have been excited, and with the result, to wit, bad feeling among the citizens, and large expense to somebody, with no good to arise from it all, they are in a fair way to accomplish this end. Whether it is worth while for them to go through so much to accomplish so little, is for them to say.—Sentinel.

Congressional.

In the House, on Tuesday last, the petitions of the New England Clergy, signed by 3,050 names, against the Nebraska Bill, was presented. The same petition was also presented in the Senate, where, at the request of Mr. Douglas, it was read. After the reading of the petition, Mr. Douglas denounced its statements as atrocious slanders. Which is to be believed, the assertion of the traitor, Stephen Arnold Douglas, or that of 3,050 clergymen?

In the House the Wisconsin Railroad Bill was tabled by a majority of 3. The excitement was intense when the result was announced. A motion was made to re-consider, during which the House adjourned.

This, we hope, is a test vote on this question, and we are inclined to believe it is: and if so, Wisconsin has great cause to rejoice, that a magnificent swindle upon the rights of her citizens has been crushed at its inception.

Now let the Senate pass the Homestead bill, adopted by the House, and land monopoly, if it does not receive its death blow, will receive a check, from which it will never recover.

On Monday a resolution passed the House to remedy the confusion at present existing in the appointment of Cadets, caused by the new Congressional Districts of the several States.

The amount of Treasury drafts issued during the week was $740,000.

It was believed that the President would settle the difficulties growing out of the seizure of the Black Warrior at Havana—the authorities of that city being willing to give ample compensation.

AGITATED.—On Friday last, the Southern Honorables, in the House of Representatives, were thrown into violent convulsions, by a remark from Mr. Lane, of Indiana, in reply to an attack of Mr. Sollers, of Maryland, that he did not represent a State where five slaves were considered equivalent to three white men. For a few moments all was commotion, but the storm was finally quelled by a motion to postpone the subject.

MAINE LAW IN MASS.—The more popular branch of the Massachusetts Legislature on Thursday refused to take any step toward repealing or essentially modifying the Prohibitory Liquor Law of that State by a vote of more than two to one—by far the largest majority ever given in that House, or by [illegible] in any way, on the side of Prohibition.

SPRING.

"Solvitur acris hiems grata vice Veris et Favoni,
Trahuntque siccas machinæ carinas."—Horace

A song for the Spring time,
From valley and hill,
And welcome the sunshine
To ripple and rill
Their ice-bonds all broken,
Unfettered and free,
They rush with commotion
On, on to the sea
From uplands and mountains,
Exultingly sing
Glad rivers and fountains
They welcome the Spring

With apples and peaches,
With corn, milk and wine,
And hot whiskey-punches,
And fruit of the vine,
Fat, jolly October—
The crafty old Monk—
Tho' he went to bed sober,
Got mother Earth drunk
But she, now rejoicing,
Since Jack Frost has fled,
Throws off her snow cover,
And rises from bed,
But her face is all covered
With bruises and scars,
For Winter is breaking,
Like family jars.

Now soft vernal breezes
Breathe gladness and joy,
And the young maiden sneezes,
And so does the boy
His arm draws her nearer,
In gentle embrace,
And kisses fall, tender
As flowers on her face
He reveals in low whisper
Words he scarce dare unfold,
And he sighs, as he asks her—
"What's good for a cold?"
Forth from her he rushes,
His thumb to his nose—
Like the tempest on ocean
Resounding, he blows

Bright Summer has started,
I see her approach,
With mud all bespattered
Are horses and coach;
She drives through the puddles—
A plunge and a dash—
And away go the horses
And wagon—to smash!
The Hours are in waiting,
And long have they stood
Expectant—she comes not—
She's stuck in the mud!

Milwaukee, March 14, 1854. ENALLAN.

GERMANS MOVING.—The Germans of Chicago hold a meeting, this evening, to protest against the Nebraska outrage. Similar demonstrations, by the Germans, have been made in several of the larger cities of the Union.—We hope the Germans of this city will hold a meeting to protest against this bill. They are opposed to it almost to a man, and out of ten German papers, published in this State, we know but one—the Sheboygan Republicaner—that favors the passage of the Nebraska Bill.

FLOOD.—A terrible flood occurred at Albany, N. Y. on Saturday last. The Hudson river rose quickly to high water mark.

Several brick buildings were stove in, and the lower part of the city was overflowed.

FIRE AT PORT HURON.—On Thursday last, a fire occurred at Port Huron, Mich., which destroyed one of the finest block of stores in the place, and a large amount of merchandize. The fire was designedly set.

MEXICO.—Late accounts from Acapulco are to the effect that the revolution at that place is progressing. That port had been closed. It was reported that Santa Anna had accepted the amendments to the Gadsden treaty.

THE News makes an onslaught upon Mayor KILBOURN, because he did not denounce us an incendiary, in his Inaugural. The editor of the News can't see anything, at present, except niggers and slave-catchers.

SUBSIDING THE PRESS.—Twenty-five Democratic Editors in Pennsylvania, hold offices of trust and profit under the Federal Government. No wonder they are in favor of the Nebraska outrage!

THE President has authorized his Cabinet organ to announce that the Nebraska Bill is not an Administration measure—gammon. It was put through the Senate under the whip of the Government.

NAVIGATION.—The Steamer Cleveland ran from Detroit to Cleveland yesterday, and found little or no ice to obstruct her passage. Boats also arrived at Detroit from Sandusky, yesterday.

ANTI-NEBRASKA MEETING.—On Monday evening last, the citizens of Port Washington held a meeting, to protest against the Nebraska Swindle.

A report has been circulated at Washington, that Col. Forney, present Clerk of the House of Representatives, has become an assistant proprietor of the Union.

AN effigy of Senator Douglas was found hanging on a tree in Arlington street, Providence, R. I., on Tuesday morning last.

THE Circuit Court for Sheboygan County, is in session at Sheboygan—Judge Howe Presiding.

THE Illinois Canal was to be opened for navigation yesterday.

The Assembly have changed their rules so as to meet at 9 o'clock A. M. of each day.

IT is intimated that Minister Soule is anxious to return to the United States.

PENNSYLVANIA.—Jas. Pollock is the whig candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

THE Oshkosh Courier says, the ice is fast disappearing from Lake Winnebago.

The Milwaukee News intimates that those engaged in the late Joshua rescue, will be prosecuted forthwith, and mulcted in heavy damages. Perhaps they will—we shall see in good time.—Kenosha Tel.

Vote of Thanks.—A vote of thanks was tendered by the delegation of Racine, (who went up to Milwaukee on Saturday,) to Capt. Bettis, of the Pacific, for his kindness and generosity.—Racine Adv.

THE London Missionary Society has already received nearly £3,500 of the sum required to send ten additional missionaries to China, in connection with the present opening in that country.

THE whole number of joint stock [illegible] in Massachusetts, is 201; capital [illegible] paid in [illegible].

Holloway's Ointment and Pills, a Certain Specific and Cure for Scorbutic Eruptions.—Extract of a letter from Mr. Abbitt, Chemist, Leamington, dated Nov. 25, 1852. To Professor Holloway: Sir, a person named John Margoechie, of 19 Regent street, Leamington, was afflicted for eight years with scorbutic eruptions on the lips, and at length the whole surface of the mouth and lower part of the face were covered with sores. He tried all kinds of remedies without deriving any benefit whatever. At length he was recommended to use your Pills, which in three days produced a great change for the better, and in a short time effected a perfect cure. m15d1w

Bayard Taylor's

First lecture is given this evening, in Young's Hall. The desire to hear him is so strong and universal, that the simple announcement of his lecture will be sufficient to draw together as many people as can be packed in Young's Hall.

NAVIGATION.—There is quite a stir along the river and sailors are actively and cheerfully engaged, preparing their vessels for operations and quite a number of boats are nearly rigged for a sail. The schooner Emma is quite ready to clear for Sheboygan, and is waiting to be let through the bridge.

SPRING STREET BRIDGE.—Teams have passed over this new structure since Tuesday last. Its completion is a great convenience to the people on this side of the river, and a source of general gratulation. The Bridge appears to be well constructed, substantial and bids fair to do good service for some years.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.—Engine Co. No. 6 hold a special meeting at their House this evening, and the Hook and Ladder Co. will hold a special meeting at their House to-morrow evening.

CONSTABLE.—The election for Constable in the Second Ward, resulting in a tie between Messrs. Fischer and Nauman, they drew a lot at the Common Council rooms, as the law in such cases prescribes, and Fischer proved to be the lucky man.

BRICK.—The Schooner D. Newhall has taken on board 125,000 brick for Chicago, and will clear for that port as soon as she can pass through Walkers Pt Bridge.

ICE CREAM, of the most delicious kind, at EMERY'S, this evening.

Police Court.

Margaret Goetzens was tried yesterday afternoon, for stealing a gold ring of the value of $4,50 from J. F. Weber's Jewelry store on East Water Street, and was found guilty, and sentenced to four months imprisonment in the County Jail. This same girl was sent to Jail, last may, for stealing from J. N. Bonesteel's store, she seems to have a marvellous penchant for Larceny.

The case of Chas. Bloss a sailor, for an assault upon Richard Cyper, a fellow sailor, was settled between the parties and the cost paid.

CIRCUIT COURT. JUDGE HUBBELL Presiding.

THURSDAY, March 16.

Chas. Wurtz, against whom four indictments were found for larceny and burglary, was tried yesterday for breaking into the shop of John Phelan and stealing therefrom a quantity of boots and shoes, and was convicted. Wurtz then plead guilty to the charge of having robbed the store of John Sport of a large amount of goods, with the understanding that a nol pros should be entered in the other two cases standing against him, guarantying that all the stolen property should be forthcoming: The law will now allow of his being sentenced to ten years imprisonment for the crimes that he already has been found guilty of. The business before the Court this forenoon consisted principally of motions, &c.

CAPTAIN GIBBS.—This gentleman, whose name has been figuring for some days past in the papers of the city and vicinity, disappeared suddenly yesterday morning from the view of his friends and up to a late hour last evening had not reported himself. There are rumors afloat concerning the conduct of the Captain which we hope are not warranted by the facts, and which we refrain from making public at present. Perhaps "it will all be right in the morning."—Chicago Press, 15th inst.

Capt. Gibbs, it will be recollected, has been organizing a company to go to Nebraska, in Chicago, and was also in this city on a similar errand a few days ago, but with what success his efforts were crowned here, we are not apprized.

P. S. Since the above was written, we learn that Capt. Gibbs was arrested for swindling, but managed to escape.

Winter has left this part of the world, the ground is naked, Spring is coming.

In our village, several new buildings are commenced, and plenty others spoken for. The Congregational society under the direction of Rev. Mr Turner are beginning a new church, which will doubtless be completed before the season closes.

A large Machinery establishment, to be driven by steam power, for planing, sawing and fitting stuff, for all the various building purposes, is under process of erection. In many other particulars the village of Stevens Point exhibits signs of activity, and a healthy growth this season.—Stevens Point Pinery, 9th inst.

EARTHQUAKE.—Three distinct shocks of an earthquake were felt in Manchester, Clay county, Ky., on Sunday night of last week; the first at 6 o'clock in the evening, the second at midnight, and the third at 5 o'clock on the morning of Monday. The first two shocks were very severe, shaking the houses at an alarming rate, and creating no little consternation among the astonished inhabitants of that region. They were felt for about twenty-five miles around, and were accompanied by a noise resembling distant thunder.—Mt. Sterling Whig.

MAINE LAW ENFORCED IN ILLINOIS.—Some ladies in Milford, Iroquois county, having been aggrieved by a whiskey shop in that village, attacked it, on Sunday evening, 4th instant, cut open the liquor barrels, spilled the contents in the street, and closed the concern by demolishing the glasses and decanters. The popular verdict was almost unanimously in favor of the ladies.

THE PECULIAR INSTITUTION.—$1,000 Lost. A man with his wife and child direct from Lexington, Ky., have just landed at Windsor. Their "master"(?) Mr. Baldwin can see them if he will call over where they feel quite happy, breathing freedom's air.—Detroit Dem.

Walter Lowrie, secretary of the General Assembly's Board of Foreign Missions, acknowledges the receipt of $3,500, for the press in Northern India, Siam and China.

THE Councilmen and Board of Aldermen of New York, have requested the Legislature of that State, to authorize the Board of Health to expend $75,000 to purify the city.

MADISON CORRESPONDENCE.

[REPORTED FOR THE FREE DEMOCRAT.]

MADISON, March 14, 1854.

ASSEMBLY.—Communication from Ben. C. Eastman, relating to swamp lands, referred to Committee on State Lands.

Bills Introduced.—By Mr. Zimmerman—to incorporate the Germantown Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co. Mr. Gibson—to authorize school district No. 1, in the town of La Crosse, to levy a tax. Mr. Bell—relating to the manufacturing of brick. Mr. Gary—to amend chap. 181, of Private and Local Laws of 1853, entitled an act for the relief of Ezra A. Parker.

The motion offered yesterday by Mr Harrington, to adjourn March 29th, was taken up, and after some discussion, for and against the motion, was lost by a large vote.

Mr. Topliff, from the Committee on Religious and Charitable Institutions, reported a bill to vacate part of the city of Richland, Richland Co. Passed.

Mr Mitchell, from the Committee on Agriculture, reported in favor of creating an Agricultural Department in the State University. It was quite a lengthy report. The usual number of copies ordered printed.

Mr. Noggle, from the Committee on the Expiration and Reënactment of Laws, made a report against the passage of laws allowing cities, towns and counties to loan their credit to aid in the construction of rail and other roads, or, in his language, "against allowing the majority to vote the minority in debt." 500 copies ordered printed.

The bill returned by the Governor, with his objections, viz: The bill to divide La Crosse Co., and organize Munroe Co.—came up, and the House refused unanimously to pass it against the objections.

Mr Gibson then offered a new bill upon the same subject, with the objectionable clause omitted, which was then passed, under suspension of the rules.

The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Worthington, to amend the standing rule of the House so as to meet hereafter at 9 o'clock, was passed.

The message of the Senate, requesting a committee of conference on the Prohibitory Liquor Law, was read.

Mr Noggle moved to appoint Messrs Knowlton, Remington and Worthington as the committee of conference on the part of the House. Mr. N. gave his reasons for introducing the motion. It is not because I have any doubt as to the course the Hon. Speaker will pursue, or out of any disrespect to him. I cheerfully admit that the course of our Speaker has been fair and honorable on this question, and that I believe he will pursue the parliamentary rule should he appoint this committee. But I think it due to the majority of the people of this State, as shown by their vote last fall, that they should be represented by a majority of this committee of conference.

The Senate has appointed two opponents of the bill, and one friend. If the Speaker appoints, and the usual parliamentary rule is pursued there will then be three friends of the bill and three opponents on the committee of conference. We would then be placed in the same position that we now are, and they could not agree upon anything.

Mr. Hull raised a question of order, claiming that the rules provide that all committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, and that it would take a vote of two thirds to change the rule.

Speaker Horn decided that the motion was in order, and that he would very willingly be relieved from appointing the committee.

Mr. Barney made quite a fierce speech against the motion. I think this an illiberal course. Fair play is a gem and a jewel, and the minority should be represented in the committee of this House. The 40,000 voters who voted against this law [rather steep estimate!] in this State, will not be represented on this committee. I appeal to the humanity, the finer feelings, the human nature of the members to vote it down. I believe I see that it will be voted down.

Mr. Donaldson thought the motion proper, and that it showed no disrespect to the Speaker.

Messrs M. J. Thomas and Earnest opposed the motion as illiberal.

Mr Noggle replied to the objections of Mr. Barney and others.

Mr Hale opposed the motion; thought the gentleman from Rock had doubt about the course of the Chairman, and that his denial of it was only a cloak to cover up the plan that had been arranged. He then charged Mr. Worthington with being lavish in his praises of the Speaker yesterday, and now he was heaping indignity upon him by the motion before the House. He thought their friendship all a pretense.

Mr Worthington then said: The gentleman from Kenosha [Mr Hale] has proclaimed himself a friend of this bill. I will take the liberty to ask him a single question. The friends of a Prohibitory Liquor Law in the State at large, as well as the members of the Legislature who support this bill, are in favor of that phase of the law which excludes the submission clause, as they deem the amendment of the Senate, by which that clause is added, an unworthy subterfuge and fraud upon the people; and they hold no man to be a true friend to the bill who is disposed to yield to that amendment. Now, is the gentleman a friend of the bill, in this sense? Is he opposed, under all circumstances, to the odious submission clause?

Mr. Hale. My action upon the question will tell.

Mr. Worthington. It does tell, Mr. Speaker, and has already told. Those who have stood by this measure from the first—who have been its firm, unwavering friends, have known each other from the beginning of this campaign, and they have known through the whole contest the true friends and the pseudo friends of the law. They have not been deceived, either in their friends or foes, and they know on whom to depend.

The gentleman has charged me with being lavish, in my remarks yesterday, in praise of the Speaker, for his fairness in treating this matter in the House, and of now treating him with indignity and contempt, in supporting this resolution. Whatever I said yesterday of the Speaker's impartiality, was said cheerfully, and from my heart; and I now repeat that not only in that gentleman, but in the Speaker pro tem., as well as in my friend upon my left [Mr. O'Neil], as well as in others, whom it would be invidious to name, we have found open, fair and manly opponents, such as we love to meet, for we know where to find them.

It has been asked, Sir, What have we to do with the Senate? I answer, in this appointment we have much to do with the Senate. The committee which we propose to raise by this resolution is to form but one half of the conference; the other half of which has been appointed by the Senate. That House has appointed a committee of three, of whom two are opponents of this law. The preponderance of Maine Law men in the Legislature entitles them to a majority in the committee, which they can secure in no other way than by the method contemplated in this resolution. If the Speaker should appoint this committee, parliamentary usage would secure at least one opponent of the bill; and thus the committee would be tied, and this measure, which ought to be fairly met, and openly carried or defeated, would fail for want of action on the part of the committee. On the other hand, if the committee is appointed by the House (and the Speaker has expressed his preference for that course), we shall secure a committee which will more fairly represent the views of the Legislature, and the responsibility of defeat, if the measure is defeated, will rest where it ought.

The truth is, Mr. Speaker, there is a chasm in this Rome into which some precious th[illegible] must be cast before we are saved; and whether it may be a portion of the Senate, or the Governor, solitary and alone, who will gird on the harness and mount the warhorse, to act the part of Curtius in filling this chasm, the majority of this House have no disposition to step between them and their fearful responsibilities.

Mr. Hale. The gentleman seems to doubt my position.

Mr. Worthington. By no means, Mr. Speaker. I have not the least doubt as to the gentleman's position.

Several motions were made to strike out the names of members of the committee, and insert others; but the persons proposed or substituted all declined.

The motion was then put—Shall the gentlemen proposed in the motion of Mr. Noggle be the committee of conference on the part of the House?

It was carried—ayes 42, noes 29.

There was considerable discussion in the House this afternoon upon amendments offered to the bill to tax all property in the State, and some good hits given. This law brings up a great many opponents, or, at least, advocates of amendments, each one laboring to secure the most liberal exemptions for their particular interests.

Mr. Webster is anxious to secure the vessel interests, and has made two or three speeches on that point. Others look after the interests of incorporated companies.

Mr Horn created a little feeling on the part of Mr. O'Neil, by moving that the clause exempting church property be struck out—stating, at the same time, that he thought all property should be taxed alike, and that he had been informed that there was one church in Milwaukee which held property amounting to about $100,000.

Mr O'Neil replied. He considered it a stab at the church to which he belonged. It was true that there was a large amount of property, and it stood in the name of the Bishop, instead of in the name of trustees, but it would go to his successors in office. Other States exempted church property, and he hoped this State would not depart from the usual rule. He knew there were those who would be glad to destroy all the churches—there were those who would burn them all.

Mr. Horn replied—saying all churches should be taxed, and there was no reason for exempting churches more than other property.

The vote was taken, and the amendment lost.

Mr. Hale moved that the clause exempting literary, benevolent and scientific institutions be struck out. He thought they should be taxed. He then referred to the scientific institution at Racine as a case in point.

This called up Mr. Wright, of Racine, who said: The gentleman has said that I was sent here to watch him. I think it time to exercise that supervising care over him now. I have not thought proper to do so heretofore; but I think the present occasion requires that I should exercise it. The many delinquencies of the gentleman make it necessary that he should be looked after. [Great laughter.]

All amendments were lost, up to the time of adjournment. It will be considered again to-morrow.

In the SENATE, to-day, the bills concerning the Insane Asylum and Probate notices were discussed.

There was some sport, yesterday, that I did not give. It was occasioned by Mr. Scott's reading the piece written by the Wisconsin's reporter, signed "Sioux," charging that one of the Maine Law advocates, whose head was silvered o'er, was in the habit of taking his bitters every morning at his boarding-place, as he had been informed by the bar-tender. He finished the piece, saying it was signed "Si-ouks" [great laughter] or "Si-ox." [Increased laughter.] "Some one near me informs me it is pronounced 'Sou,' which in French means a 'half cent.'" [Laughter.] He then said he should not move to expel "Si-ox;" for he did not apply the cent to himself, as he had not drank in Madison.

Mr. Orton then moved that "Si-ox" be expelled, which the Chair decided to be out of order, as he knew no such person.

There is much talk about "Sioux" in the House, to-day. H. J. P.

A Woman in Jail.—Marshal Brown found an Irish woman sitting in the rain, upon the sidewalk, in the lower part of King street, just at dark, last evening, in a state of almost senseless intoxication. She had been taken home some time before, but was so insane through the effects of the liquor she had drank, that she attempted to kill some of her children, and was turned out by her husband or the neighbors into the street. The Marshal put her in jail for the night.—Madison Jour.

It is hinted by the knowing ones, that the liquor law is defeated beyond a resonable doubt. The Senate will never recede from their present position, because, as it is asserted, and as the people were warned last fall, the Governor is bound to veto the bill should it become a law, and the Senate prefer to take the responsibility of killing it upon themselves, rather than throw it upon him. The people will grow wise, we trust by and by, after the infliction of a few such experiences.—Ib.

ACCORDING to a statement published, it appears that the total number of Odd Fellows in this State on the 31st of December last, was 17,265. Of these, 4,108 belonged to the Lodges of Cincinnati.—Sandusky (O.) Reg.

Starvation is said to be an American word first introduced authoritatively by Webster in his dictionary.

Baltimore has a population of 170,000 and appropriates this year $149,000 for public schools.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The U. S. steamer Princeton has received sailing orders and is now lying off the Battery with her supplies on board, ready to sail at a moment's warning.—Her destination is supposed to be Cadiz, to carry out the result of the deliberations of the Black Warrior affair. A dispatch from Washington in the Times states that a powerful influence was yesterday brought to bear upon the President to induce him not to recommend a suspension of the neutrality laws in relation to Spain. A majority in the Cabinet was decidedly for it.

The Cabinet is said to stand thus:—Marcy, Cushing, Davis and Campbell for decisive measures against Spain; Guthrie and McClelland, doubtful.

The steamer George Law from Aspinwall 5th via Kingston, arrived at 12½ to-day. She brings $978,000 and 240 passengers. Among the passengers arre Messrs Holcomb, Winthrop, and Bird, belonging to the parties detailed from the frigate Cyane to survey a canal route across the Isthmus of Darien.

The clipper ship Comet arrived this morning in the unprecedented space of 75 days, 7 hours from San Francisco.

The Panama Star of the latest date has the following important intelligence from Western Mexico by the steamer California. We learn that the inhabitants of Acapulco and all that portion of Mexico were in a state of excitement in consequence of a revolution which had recently broken out among them.

It appears that the inhabitants of this and some of the bordering States have taken arms under Gen. Alvere and declared themselves free and independent, and are ready to enforce it if necessary. No positive engagement had occurred between the opposing parties, but it is said by some that a slight skirmish had taken place on the plaza Chilpanthzings, where Santa Anna had 2,000 men under arms.

There was a rumor in San Salvador that 800 North Americans had disembarked at Omsa as allies of Honduras. An attempt has been making, but unsuccessfull, to restore peace between Honduras and Guatamala.

LOUISVILLE, March 14.—The steamer Caroline running to Memphis was burned on Sunday at the mouth of the White river. The boat was totally destroyed and 40 or 50 lives lost.—The flames spread so rapidly that scarcely any escaped. As soon as the fire was discovered, the pilot run her on to a bank; 15 persons seized the yawl and attempted to reach the shore, but the boat sunk and all perished. Capt. Craighton jumped overboard and was lost.—John Price, pilot perished at the wheel. The boat was burned to the water edge, when she slid off and sunk. The boat and cargo were a total loss. Only —— Cabin passengers were lost. The remainder of the victims were hands and deck passengers.

BOSTON, March 14.—There is much exultation among a portion of our citizens caused by the decision of the Supreme Court against the constitutionality of a portion of the liquor law.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The steamer Nashville sailed to-day for Southampton and Havre, with 24 passengers, and $364,000 in specie.

GREATEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.—At Montreal the Grand Trunk road is to cross the St. Lawrence upon a magnificent tubular iron bridge, costing some $7,500,000, a mile and a quarter in length, or, including the solid embankments at the ends, two miles. This bridge will be unequalled among the great works of the world. It will have in the center an elevation of 100 feet above the channel, which is attained by an easy grade on each side.—Twenty-two massive piers, with spaces of 250 feet between them support the structure, and the most skillful arrangements are made to protect it against the ice which in the spring comes crashing and piling down the river with awful power. It was first proposed to build the bridge of wood, but that plan has been abandoned for the more permanent one, notwithstanding the vast additional expense.—N. Y. Tribune.

The Cincinnati Enquirer states that Mrs. Capt. Cummings, wife of one of the Martha Washington prisoners, has gone to Arkansas, not only with the view of meeting her husband but with the avowed intention of challenging Sidney C. Burton to fight a duel.

PERSONS writing to agents in the Departments, on personal affairs, must pay the postage in future. An official notice from the State Department says that postage can be allowed on official matter only.

The Baltimore Patriot says the amount of guano which will be imported into that city, the present year, will probably reach 60,000 tons, costing $3,000,000.

Government has purchased a building on the corner of Murray street and College place, New York, for the sum of $60,000, to be used for the United States Courts.

Six hundred teachers have had the advantages of a training in the Normal School of Connecticut, since its incorporation.

EVERGREENS! EVERGREENS!

THE following varieties: BALSAM AND NORWAY FIR, SPRUCE PINE, HEMLOCK AND ARBOR VITAE.

It is a well known fact, that for the last ten or more years, large quantities of Balsam Firs and Spruce have been brought from the islands north on steamboats and vessels, and sold in Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha, at prices called Cheap, say from one to four shillings each; the quantity sold will amount to many hundred dollars each year, and it is equally well known that not over one in a hundred have lived. The few that have lived, have cost, disinfecting dead ones, over ten dollars each. To remedy this great loss and perplexity, I propose to sell Evergreens from two to five feet high for $1 to $4 each, according to size and form, and deliver them in Milwaukee, Racine, Whitewater, Janesville, Madison, Watertown, or at any town or village on the M. & M. R Road. I will superintend the planting out, and guarantee them to live, provided enough are taken in any one town to amount to $20. My trees have been grown in my garden, for the last five years, are perfectly healthy, and trained in a beautiful Pyramidal form. Samples can be seen on the premises of C. WALL, Esq., Milwaukee, or in my garden.

PIE PLANT.

Cahoon's Seedling Pie Plant, I have for sale in quantities to suit purchasers. It is so well known in Wisconsin, that I deem a description unnecessary.

FRUIT TREES.

Best leading varieties of Apples, Plums, Pears, Cherries, Quinces, Grapes, Raspberries, and Gooseberries, the best stock both of American and English. Also, new English Prize varieties under cultivation, and will be ready for delivery, as soon as fully tested in this climate. Among many varieties imported last season, will be found the following with their weights and colors; London Red, 37 pwt. 7 grs., Catherine Yellow, 32 pwt. 8 grs., Thumper Green, 28 pwt. 13 grs., Cossac White, 28 pwt. 8 grs.

FLOWERING SHRUBS.

Most of the old leading varieties, and many new and very choice ones. To those who can't afford to wait for common-sized Shrubs to grow, can be accommodated with large clusters of Deutzias, Syringas, Lilacs and Weigelas, from six to ten times the usual size, sold from Nursery. I will warrant them to live and bloom the first season. Large quantities of usual size and prices. Mountain Ash, both American and European, grown from seed, of beautiful form and vigorous growth.

Dahlias, a large stock and forty choice varieties, equal to any that will be offered in the western market.

Peonies, of various shades and colors.

Mexican Tiger Flowers and many other Bulbs, Tulips, and Flowering [illegible]

Old Colony Sweet Corn raised by the Rev. A. R. Pope. It is a true hybrid and the most remarkable variety ever produced. It was raised in 1847, from the southern white, impregnated with the early New England Sweet Corn. The ears are of remarkable size, from 16 to 24 rows each. It is the richest, sweetest, and most delicious Corn known.

Also, Stowell's EVER GREEN SWEET CORN, so fully described by Prof. J. J. Mapes, of the Working Farmer.

Both of the above varieties were raised by me the past year, and were fully ripe before the first frost. The yield was more than double that of any of the old varieties of Sweet Corn. The seed of both the above named kinds will be put up in packages and sold for one shilling each, and will be deposited in the Seed Stores in the Eastern and Central parts of the State.

☞ Trees, Shrubs and Roots will be delivered in Milwaukee early in April. S. F. CAHOON.

Clear Shining After Rain.

The wind doth moan, and the cold rain fall,
And the garden blooms no more:
But the dark clouds fly
O'er the wintry sky,
And the sweet flowers now that decaying lie,
Shall the spring restore.

So care may come with a blighting breath,
And the hopes of life decline:
But the tears and sigh
Will the [illegible] by,
As the wind and rain from the cloudy sky,
[illegible] bright sunshine.

And Death his shadowy wing shall spread
O'er the young, fair and gay:
As the flower shall fade
Neath its baleful shade,
His youth in the bed that the worms invade
For the mouldering prey.

In vain the wind and the rain shall beat
O'er the dreamless sleeper there;
Though many a year
Shall the wind be sere,
Return with the howling tempest drear,
To the sons of care.

How [illegible] the wind be calm to him,
And his grave sweep softly o'er;
On his darkened eyes
Shall a dawning rise—
The son of a cloudless paradise,
To set in storms no more.

MORTIMORE'S
Rheumatic Compound.

THIS truly celebrated remedial preparation, efficacious alike for each and every description of RHEUMATIC COMPLAINTS, is already too well known and esteemed throughout the United States, to require any lengthy notice of its preeminent virtues. It ERADICATES this heretofore incurable and distressing disease from the system, and STANDS UNRIVALLED IN THE PHARMACY OF MEDICINE.

We do not propose to make unqualified statements, or to [illegible] but simply to request those most interested—THE SUFFERERS THEMSELVES—to procure from the Agent in their vicinity, a circular, and not only read the testimony of those who have experienced its invaluable curative powers, but also to write to, or call upon, the consignees, so that the statements may emanate from the Fountain-Head—a course which will satisfy the most incredulous, and only by which the reputation of the REMEDY is certain of being sustained. Write also to the proprietors, who will accord every information, and furnish names of undoubted character from every section of the Union [illegible] some of the most eminent Physicians, Clergymen, Editors, and prominent citizens, rendering the reliability and efficacy of the remedy beyond the reach of doubt or distrust.

Mortimore's Rheumatic Compound,

Is a Vegetable Extract, An Internal Remedy, prepared expressly for the One Disease, and this it will cure in every form, either Inflammatory (Acute) or Chronic, no matter how long standing.

Sold by H. FESS, Jr., S. JOHNSON, Jr., and LAKE & HOPKINS, Milwaukee.

THE ABOVE HAVE ALSO FOR SALE.

THE GREAT ALTERATIVE,
MORTIMORE'S
BITTER CORDIAL AND BLOOD PURIFIER.

THIS [illegible] remedy—for every description of Nervous Affections, and for diseases of the Liver and Kidneys—has obtained a popularity, wherever introduced, unprecedented in the history of any other medical preparation ever brought before the public.

Many of our most eminent Physicians have thoroughly tested its merits, and now prescribe it as the most effective Alterative and Blood Purifier ever known.

Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Night Sweats, and Affections of the Lungs, will readily yield to the influence of this unrivalled remedy. Physical Derangements or Irregularities, especially with Females, producing Debility and Prostation of the system, may be at once obviated and removed by the use of the

Bitter Cordial and Blood Purifier,

which is a Vegetable Spirit, pleasant to take and perfectly safe to be used in any state of health, even by the most delicate female or child.

☞ Price One Dollar per bottle.

IN pursuance and by virtue of a decretal order made on the 27th day of January, A. D. 1854, in the above entitled cause, I shall expose for sale, and sell at public auction, at the Court House, in the City of Milwaukee, on Saturday the 1st day of April, A. D. 1854, at 2 o'clock P. M. of that day, the following described mortgaged premises, to wit: All the following lot of land situated in Walker's Point, in the city of Milwaukee, state of Wisconsin, known and described as that part of lot two (2), in block ten (10), included within the following boundaries, to wit, commencing at the northeast corner of said lot two, running thence west along the south line of Lake street thirty feet, thence south to a point on the south line of said lot two ninety feet west of and from the southeast corner of said lot, thence east along the south line of said lot to the southeast corner thereof, thence north along the east line of said lot to the place of beginning, excepting and reserving from the above described land that piece therefrom deeded to Thaddeus R. Austin by N. B. Holman, Trustee, &c., by deed bearing date 10th of April, 1848, recorded in the Register's Office of Milwaukee County the 10th day of April, A. D. 1848, in Vol. 24 of Deeds, pages 57 and 58.

Dated Sheriff's Office, Milwaukee, Feb 16, 1854.

CAUTION.

THE Public are cautioned against using Baking powder, Cream Tartar, or other Acids, for rising bread, &c., without satisfying themselves that they are pure. It is well known to the wholesale dealers in these articles that the impure article contains Alum, Lead, Lime, and other injurious ingredients. Pure Baking Powders cannot be sold, so as to be very profitable to wholesalers, consequently the greater their efforts to sell an impure article. The manufacturer of Reed's Baking Powder uses an article that has been analyzed and found to contain only 1-100th part of impurities, and is consequently perfectly safe.—This is written merely as a caution, as the manufacturer has already more orders than he can fill. Reed's Baking Powders, pure Cream Tartar and Soda, at wholesale and retail, at 235 and 237 East Water st., Milwaukee. Orders to be filled must invariably be accompanied with the money. January, 1854. BOOTH'S INK FOR SCHOOLS.
EAST SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 29, 1853.

W. W. BOOTH:
Dear Sir:—I feel myself to be under weighty obligations to you for the dozen bottles of your Superior Black Ink. Several bottles are being used in my school, with most gratifying satisfaction. We hear not that common complaint of "poor pens," which we so often hear where an inferior or ordinary article of ink is used. 'Tis not its jetty, black, and shining smooth surface, alone, that gives it a superiority over other articles of the same name, but the readiness with which it always flows from the pen, and the property which effectually prevents metallic pens from corroding, under all ordinary circumstances. I can most cheerfully recommend its introduction into our primary schools as being precisely adapted to the use of children. Respectfully Yours, &c.,
